BIG NAVY TALK DENOUNCED IN U.S. AS MENACE

William E. Borah, Chairman of Foreign Relations Committee of the Republic's Senate, Roundly Scores Admiral Charles F. Hughes and Rear-Admiral C. P. Plunkett for Their Declarations; Great Navy Building Plans and "Wild Statements" Sheer Madness, He Says

Washington, Jan. 23—Recent "war talk" of United States naval officers, coupled with their demands for a larger navy, has called forth a statement from Chairman William E. Borah of the Senate foreign relations committee, that such activity is "sheer madness."

Directing attention to the recent advocacy by Admiral Charles F. Hughes, Chief of Naval Operations, for virtually a $1,000,000,000 United States navy building programme and the declaration Saturday of Rear-Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, that the United States faced an early and "inevitable war" with its commercial competitors, the Idaho senator urges the taxpayers to make themselves heard "before this mad policy becomes fixed."

Curtis D. Wilbur, Secretary of the Navy, to-day had no comment to make on the Plunkett statement, neither would he indicate he would have anything to say later.

Senator Borah described such declarations as those of Hughes and Plunkett as "mischievous to the last degree."

"If anything could possibly bring on war between two great nations," he declared, "it is these enlarged naval programmes, increasing with declarations from the navies of the competitive countries that war is inevitable. This was the insane policy which obtained between Germany and Great Britain from 1900 to 1914 and which was one of the great contributing causes of the World War."

Endorsing the smaller original naval programme for some additional cruisers to "round out" the United States navy, the Idaho senator declared that proposal "has now developed into a programme for the largest navy in the world."

"Added to this," he continued, "is a notice that this navy is not for protection of our commerce, but for war, immediate and inevitable war.

"These statements, put out by naval officers, are notice to all the world, and particularly Great Britain, to get ready for war. They are being so interpreted throughout the world. Even if these men have worked themselves into this state of mind, it is incredible they should state their views publicly. All this is a part of a well-organized plan to prepare the public mind for an avalanche.

"A limited number of cruisers to help police our commerce can be justified, but this programme, together with the wild and excited statements about war, is sheer madness."

MUST BE HEARD

"Those who must pay the taxes and do the fighting and dying in case these people succeed in bringing on war," he said, "ought not to delay in taking part in this programme. They are entitled to be heard before this mad policy becomes fixed."

BOYCOTT STARTED BY NATIVES OF SAMOA

Dissatisfaction With Administration Leads to Move Against New Zealand

Wellington, N.Z., Jan. 23 (Canadian Press Cable)—Samoan natives have commenced a boycott against New Zealand goods, according to information received at the Amekland office of a well known shipping company.

New Zealand holds a mandate over Samoa under the League of Nations. Recently a commission of inquiry was appointed to investigate charges of dictatorship against Sir George Richardson, administrator of Samoa. The committee found the charges were unfounded and as a result, O. F. Nelson and A. G. Smyth were deported for having played a prominent part in causing unrest among the Samoans. The latter staged a mild demonstration on the day Smyth and Nelson sailed from Samoa.

LIM GIM HELD BY B.C. POLICE

Vancouver, Jan. 23.—Lim Gim, Vancouver Chinaman, who the British Columbia Court of Appeal decided will have to serve a seven-year term in penitentiary on a charge of selling opium, gave himself up to the police here to-day. He had been at liberty on bail pending the decision of the Appeal Court.

COURT UPHOLDS DEATH PENALTY FOR TWO MEN

George Burgess and John McKenzie Sentenced to Hang Friday

Petition For Clemency Forwarded to Department of Justice

Sentence of death for George Burgess and John McKenzie, for the murder of Otto Bosch between Mission City and Ruby Creek last Summer, was upheld by the B.C. Court of Appeal in a judgment handed down this morning. Mr. Justice McPhillips dissented. The men are sentenced to hang Friday.

Counsel did not speak to the judgment in court to-day but in answer to questions by a Times reporter stated that the disagreement by one judge left a chance open to save the two men from the scaffold.

Stuart Henderson, counsel for Burgess, said appeal can now be made to the Supreme Court of Canada on notification being given to the Attorney-General within fifteen days.

PLEA AT OTTAWA

A petition for clemency has also gone forward, he said, to the Minister of Justice, seeking a commutation of the sentence on account of the recommendation of the jury for mercy on account of the youth of the convicted men.

The jury found Burgess guilty with a plea for leniency, and McKenzie guilty with a strong plea for mercy. "I cannot deal with the recommendations," the trial judge remarked in passing sentence.

No reasons for the majority judgment dismissing the appeal were given in the Appeal Court this morning. Mr. Justice Martin will hand down the reasons of the court later, Chief Justice Macdonald intimated.

There was none of the inherent features of a murder, Mr. Justice McPhillips remarked, in handing down his dissenting judgment. McKenzie did not strike a blow. The blow which Burgess struck did not cause immediate death he said. "He referred to the lapse of time between the discovery of Otto Bosch and his death after an operation in Vancouver General Hospital and questioned crown's action in not presenting more evidence covering that period of time. There had been a lack of evidence as to whether that operation was necessary, he said. There had been no evidence to show that Bosch had consented to the operation.

WOULD GRANT NEW TRIAL

There had been no evidence that the operation had been carefully performed or that the wound was dangerous and liable to cause death, Mr. Justice McPhillips continued. Had this evidence been called crown would have completed its case. Counsel for the prisoners had not been given an opportunity to cross-examine the surgeon who performed the operation. Crown should have produced that evidence, he said. The interests of justice demanded it.

It was, he said, statutory murder only and in statutory murder only the law provides what must be done. He believed the conviction should be quashed and a new trial ordered.

OTHER CHURCHES URGED TO RETRACE STEPS TO ROME

Bishop O'Donnell Presents Pope's Message on Present Anglican Troubles

All churches should retrace their steps and return to Rome and prodigals will be received with open arms and injuries forgotten, Bishop O'Donnell announced at the 9.30 o'clock service Sunday at St. Andrew's Cathedral on the authority of an encyclical issued by Pope Pius.

His Lordship presented in his sermon the chief points of the Pope's encyclical, in which it was set forth as the attitude of Rome on such questions as church union, prayer book difficulties and the Anglican Church split, that dissidents must return to the Roman Catholic Apostolic Church if world-wide Christian unity is to be attained. The Pope's message as presented by the Bishop here deals with the subject, "How to Promote True Religious Unity."

"Never perhaps from times past have we seen in the hearts of men such intense desire as we see to-day to strengthen and extend to the common good of all human society those fraternal relations in which we all are united closely by bonds of the same nature and origin.

"The Church of Christ not only must subsist to-day, to-morrow and forever, but must subsist as exactly it was in the apostolic time, if we do not want to say—which is absurd—that Jesus Christ either failed in His great intent or erred when he affirmed that the gates of hell would never crush His church.

SHIP WHICH CALLED AID REACHES PORT

At Honolulu Operator of Ss. Griffco Declines to Explain SOS Message

Honolulu, Jan. 23—The steamer Griffco, which a few days ago sent a wireless call for aid while proceeding from Seattle to this port arrived here to-day. Radio Operator Vincent Gellerman, making his first voyage, refused to explain why he had sent the call that caused several vessels to search for the ship.

Captain Herbert Martin said he did not know at the time the SOS message was being sent.

The Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, new owners of the vessel, have begun an investigation of the incident.

REV. DR. CLAY TO BE IN HOSPITAL FOR SEVERAL WEEKS

Regains Consciousness in His Fight in Winnipeg For Return to Health

Winnipeg, Jan. 23—Rev. Dr. W. Leslie Clay of Victoria, B.C., Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was reported to-day to have regained consciousness and to be resting easily, the announcement being made by physicians at the hospital where he is confined while recuperating from the effects of a heart attack. Dr. Clay, it was stated, had partly lost the power of speech and would be under treatment for several weeks.

Dr. Clay was removed from his train while en route from Victoria to Ottawa last Thursday morning.

ARCHDEACON NAMED

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 23—Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, who recently was appointed rector of St. Paul's Anglican Church here, has been made archdeacon of Kingston to succeed the late Ven. Archdeacon O. G. Dobbs.

VOICES ARE CARRIED FAR BY NEW LOUD SPEAKER

New York, Jan. 23—The human voice was projected across the Hudson River yesterday without distortion, through the air, by the latest development in the field of loud speakers.

A small group of experimenters on a bluff on the New Jersey shore spoke in ordinary tones into a telephone, which carried their voices to the loud speaker on the roof of the Bell Telephone Company's laboratories a mile away in Manhattan. Five seconds later the voices returned clearly through the air.

The experiment was also carried out successfully with Mrs. R. W. King, wife of the engineer in charge, singing into a telephone from her Shorthills, N.J. home.

King explained that the instrument demonstrated was not a new invention, but that it combined in one apparatus the recent improvements in a loud speaker. It was perfected by E. C. Wente and A. L. Thuras of the Bell laboratories.

WHEN COOLIDGE VISITED CUBA

Beer Bobs Up As Issue Again As Licensees Ask Assistance For Business

BOARD SETS WAGES FOR CATERING

New Minimum Scale to Vary According to Business Arrangements

Legal minimum wages for all employees engaged in catering in British Columbia were fixed by the board administering the Male Minimum Wage Act to-day as follows to become operative March 15:

Where employees receive their meals free from their employers, thirty-two and one-half cents an hour for a straight shift and thirty-five cents an hour in a split shift.

Where employees do not receive free meals, forty cents an hour for a straight shift and forty-two and one-half cents an hour for a split shift.

This scale follows closely the minimum wage of forty cents an hour set by the board in the lumber industry, where working conditions are not complicated by the supplying of board free to workers.

FOLLOWS INQUIRY

The board's final rulings were announced by J. D. McNiven, chairman of the board administering the law, after he and E. B. Perry, representing employers, and Harry Wood, representing employees, had concluded their long investigation into catering wages. Now that the minimum wage law has been applied to lumbering and catering, the next step will be to bring it into effect in some other realm of business. For this purpose it is expected another board will be appointed shortly with Mr. McNiven as chairman, so that it may be composed of men thoroughly familiar with the business to be investigated.

SHIFTS VARY

The board's order explains that shifts in the catering business are sometimes continuous, without any break except time off for meals, and in other cases the shifts are split into two or more parts by intervals of time off duty apart from meal times. To cover this condition the board has fixed different wages for the two different types of shifts. Its order also takes into consideration the fact that some hotels and restaurants board their employees as part of their remuneration.

SPOKANE DEATH

Spokane, Jan. 23—Dr. Nathan M. Baker, sixty-seven, widely known in Northwest medical and political circles, died here last night.

Beer, for years the chief storm centre in the Provincial Legislature, was suddenly injected again into the programme of the coming session, when British Cloumbia hotel keepers and beer licensees launched a drive to-day to secure important concessions to assist them in selling beer to the public.

Their proposals, as laid before the Cabinet and Liquor Commissioner Hugh Davidson at a conference this morning by Gordon Wismer and Thomas Whalen, representing the B.C. Hotel Men's Association, were as follows:

1. That the Government sell draught beer to licensees at prices lower than it sells beer by the bottle to the public so that the margin of profit in beer parlors may be increased.
2. That beer parlors be allowed to sell bottled beer.
3. That the present beer license fee be reduced.
4. That the hours of sale in beer parlors be increased.
5. That beer parlors be allowed to indicate by signs on their premises that they are places where beer may be obtained.
6. That the number of beer licenses granted in any place be made dependent on the population.

PRICE REQUEST REASONABLE

While the Government reserve judgment on these suggestions, promising only consideration of them, it was indicated clearly that at least one of the beer men's requests was likely to be granted. Their proposal that they secure their beer at cheaper prices than the general public at liquor stores is reasonable, in the view of Premier MacLean.

SECOND CHAMBER SOON TO DISAPPEAR

Nova Scotia is to Have But One House in Its Legislature

Halifax, Jan. 23.—Replying to the letter he received from A. S. MacMillan, Liberal leader in the Legislative Council, who, "writing on behalf of a number of his colleagues," stated they were willing to vote for a bill abolishing the Legislative Council, waiving all claims to divisional indemnity, Premier E. N. Rhodes said in part:

"In connection with your offer and that of your colleagues to serve without indemnity and to support the policy of abolition, I have only to point out that if solemn promises have been disregarded for a period of years, it would not be the part of wisdom for the Government to rely upon further pledges of a like character at this time. The Government, therefore, feels impelled to take the only safe course and rely upon the support of those who are in sympathy with its policy."

The Legislative Council is the second chamber of the Nova Scotia Legislature. Recently the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London gave a ruling upholding the right of the Government to abolish the Council and make the Legislature a single chamber one.

After the disappearance of the Nova Scotia Legislative Council Quebec will be the only province in Canada with a two-chamber Legislature.

MEMBERS HERE FOR OPENING OF SESSION

Sitting of House to Be Strenuous, Politicians Expect

Everything was in readiness at the Parliament Buildings to-day for the opening of the Legislature's annual session by Lieutenant-Governor R. R. Bruce, to-morrow afternoon.

Most members of the House reached the Capital over the week-end, and the first unofficial business of the session started this morning with a full caucus of Liberal members. Almost all supporters of the Government were present to attend their first meeting under the Premiership of Hon. J. D. MacLean. The caucus will continue most of the day in preparation for the opening of the House. The pre-sessional conference will facilitate Government business by acquainting all members privately with the Government's plans.

The remaining members will reach the city during the day or to-morrow morning. The first Conservative caucus will probably be held to-morrow under R. H. Pooley, Opposition Leader, and acting head of the Conservative Party in British Columbia, in the absence of Hon. S. F. Tolmie in Ottawa.

EXPECT LONG SESSION

Members who are here already looked forward to a long and arduous session, possibly the last session of the present Parliament, which was elected in 1924. The Opposition anyway appears certain that the session will be followed by a general election some time this year, and to this end will make the most of the proceedings to lay a foundation for an election campaign.

Conservative leaders indicated that the Government would be fought every foot of the way through the entire session. This may mean a long sitting, lasting probably until late in March.

Last year members assembled here expecting a dull session and the proceedings developed into the most exciting in years. If this rule worked conversely now the coming session would be brief, but members generally agree that this is impossible. With the Opposition looking forward to an election—although the Government does not need to go to the country until late in 1929—the session is bound to be strenuous.

BUCKHAM IS HERE

Mr. Speaker Buckham took charge at the Buildings this morning with Sergeant-at-Arms Hearns in organizing the sessional staff. Mr. Speaker arrived here in better health than he has enjoyed for years, and was deluged with congratulations from members who found him looking so much better than formerly. Premier MacLean, who was unwell for a time, also has recovered vigorous health.

PORT COQUITLAM ROBBERS HUNTED

Thieves Took $360 From Store of P. Burns and Co. Ltd.; Escaped in Auto

Vancouver, Jan. 23.—Smashing the combination off the safe in the Port Coquitlam store of P. Burns & Company Ltd., thieves obtained about $300 sometime after midnight on Saturday. Entrance was made by breaking the lock off the front door.

The robbery was discovered on Sunday morning by K. A. Campbell, manager of the store.

A large car found abandoned on the Mission Bridge is believed to have been stolen in Vancouver and used by the thieves for the trip to Port Coquitlam.

The car ran out of gas on the bridge, and the thieves are believed to have escaped in a small car that is reported to have been stolen in Matsqui.

CHARITY FUND DISPUTE GROWS THREATENING

Local Chinese Ask Police to Search for Knives and Guns as Scores of Orientals From Mainland and Island Points Pour Into Victoria Following Recent Outbreak

Chinatown is astir with excitement following the recent outbreak between opposing factions over the disposal of funds raised initially for charitable purposes. The latest move in the incident has been a request to the city authorities for a dragnet drive for suspects, to disarm those believed by some to be congregating in Victoria from Vancouver, Nanaimo and Island points, bringing a threat of further trouble.

WANTS HOUSES SEARCH

The letter to the authorities to-day asks for police aid, and suggests what amounts to a house to house search for pistols and knives, in the interests of safety. Over eighty outside Chinese have come to Victoria within the last few days, says the communication, and are registered at hotels and rooming houses at or near the Chinese area. Fearing that some armed move may be attempted the local Chinese have asked for police investigation of the trouble.

The communication to the authorities asserts that the trouble arose out of the disposal of funds raised in Victoria, Vancouver and elsewhere by the Chinese to go to the upkeep of hospitals and other benevolent institutions.

Rioting of an incipient nature occurred a few days ago, in which six Chinese under arms raided a place in Fisgard Street. Arrests were made by the police, who averted a concerted attempt at reprisals by the crowd.

TITLE TAKEN TO PROPERTY ON RESERVE

Canadian National Railway Now in Possession of 26 Acres For Terminals

Title to over seventeen acres of land on the Industrial Reserve, between Point Ellice and the railway bridge, has been taken out by the Canadian National Railways, it was learned at the city assessors' office to-day where the property was being revised for assessment purposes. The land extends for some 2,143 feet between the two bridges west of the Inner Harbor, lying between Tyee Road and Harbor Road. It is assessed in the neighborhood of $100,000, and has been registered in the name of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway.

The ground is that to be utilized for railway trackage, round houses and other developments in connection with the C.N.R. as the facilities become necessary. While no statement could be secured from the officials of the Canadian National here, the consolidation of the property in the ownership of the road, and the necessary assumption of taxes that that will imply gives rise to the belief that development of terminal facilities may be nearer than at first supposed.

The Provincial Government is now pushing work on Tyee Road, north of Point Ellice bridge, adjoining another strip of property of smaller proportions which has been recently taken over by the Federal road. The additions, for which title is not taken, bringing Canadian National holdings on the Reserve up to a total of some twenty-six acres.

LITTLE JOE

DEAN DEFENDS NEW REVISED PRAYER BOOK

In Cathedral Sermon He Says Book Introduces Nothing New

"Weight must be given to the consequences of the rejection of the new revised English Prayer Book, which will only mean 'confusion worse confounded,' and to the impressive majorities that Anglican councils have given for the book. It is just a question of the balance of advantages. Whatever happens, disestablishment and disendowment are brought nearer," was one of the trenchant observations made by the Dean of Columbia in his scholarly sermon at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday morning on the subject "The New English Revised Prayer Book. Is it a Romanizing Book? Does it Provide a Real Step Forward.?

POSSESSES COPY

Observing that, unlike some of the critics who dogmatize about the book, he possessed a copy, the Dean told of attending services in England where it had been experimentally used. He touched upon the events leading up to its discussion in Parliament and the controversy which had been waged, declaring that the Parliamentary debates illustrated the fact that if one wanted a great question debated with adequate learning and logic, one must go, not to the House of Commons but to the House of Lords.

The House of Commons, according to Dean Quainton, had been swept off its feet by appeals to suspicion, prejudice

B.C. OUTSTANDING IN SHEEP INDUSTRY

Considerable Expansion During Year 1927 Noted in Report

Among the Western provinces, British Columbia has been particularly alert and energetic and is destined to become outstanding in the sheep-raising industry, says a report received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, which notes the considerable expansion in the industry in 1927.

Farmers, says the report, have apparently taken to heart the advice of governments and livestock and other organizations that there is a bright and profitable future ahead for sheep raising and wool production in the Dominion. During 1927, 120,230 animals were added to the sheep population of the Dominion, bringing the total to 3,267,706. Western Canada added 71,382 to its sheep population.

British Columbia increased its sheep population by 66 per cent. in 1926, considerably outdistancing other sections of the Dominion and this was further increased by 27 per cent. in 1927. Under the stimulus of the Sheep Promotion Committee, keen interest has been taken in the development of the logged-off lands of the coastal areas of British Columbia for sheep raising and not only have local ranchers been increasing their flocks in connection with the use of these lands but outsiders have been attracted by the reports of success of sheep raising in this fashion. Windermere Valley is mentioned in the report as a section meeting with success in its efforts to encourage sheep raising.

BRITISH BOWLERS TO PLAY IN CALIFORNIA DURING FEBRUARY

Pasadena, Cal., Jan. 23.—The date of the American international challenge cup bowling tournament, which has been entered by a team of British bowlers, will not be set until the arrival of the invaders here.

The English team was expected to be in Pasadena by January 28.

Some half-dozen squads from various Southern California cities are entered in the tournament, which will be played on two separate greens here, and which will have at stake the cup offered by Charles Fox, president of the Southern California Lawn Bowling Association and the Pasadena Bowling Association.

SHARKEY QUIBBLING OVER BEING FORCED TO MEET CONTENDER

New York, Jan. 23.—Quibbling in the heavyweight ranks has broken out again with Jack Sharkey balking at an elimination struggle against Johnny Risko.

According to Matchmaker Jess McMahon, one of the Madison Square Garden lieutenants, Sharkey feels he is sufficiently qualified to box Gene Tunney in a championship bout without the necessity of further tests. However, McMahon said Sharkey's showing in his recent drawn battle with Tom Heeney was not impressive.

At the request of Battling Levinsky for more time to train, the ten-round bout between Levinsky and Delaney in Pittsburgh has been changed from January 27 to February 6.

BRITISH COLUMBIA INDUSTRIAL LEADER

Investment Nearly Fifty Per Cent Greater Than Three Prairie Provinces

British Columbia occupies the outstanding industrial position in Western Canada, its capital investment in industry being nearly fifty per cent. larger than that of the three prairie provinces combined, while its net production value is about equal to that of the three, says a report received by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, which notes the steady progress being made in Western Canada.

Manufacturing establishment has been progressing hand in hand with agricultural settlement, the report says, and Western Canada, which was at one time so dependent upon other areas for its fabricated products is coming to an ever-increasing extent to furnish these herself out of the great wealth and variety of her natural resources.

Ladysmith Fighters Gain Decision In Fights With Locals

Sprunston and Simpson Too Strong For Victoria Boys; Other Fine Bouts

Two of Ladysmith's fancy fighters won decision in the ring on Saturday night when the Tillicums Club held their weekly show. Arthur Sprunston and Joe Simpson, both from the mining town, showed some nice ability and little trouble in winning. The Seattle boxers met with fair success.

The main event was between Sprunston and Petty Officer Mason, of the Navy, a fine boxer, but not quite strong enough to stand up and swap punches with the Ladysmith boy. Mason tried to box with Sprunston, but the latter was out for hard hitting and he carried the fight to his opponent. Mason was clever enough to avoid many punches but he was unable to do much leading on his own.

DEFEATS SINNOTT

Simpson won his decision over Scotty Sinnott, of this city, after three rounds. Simpson had an edge in weight and he had a fairly good fight hand, with ... to shook up the local lad.

Tim Keist, another local boy, had the edge on Tommy Hamilton, of Seattle. Keist fought a good fight, was always on the aggressive and Hamilton's punches had no effect on him.

Wesley Hayes, of Seattle, lost the decision to Neel after an extra round.

Arthur McKillop, of Seattle, carried too many guns for Refson, and the fight ended in the third round with a technical knockout.

Bob Gilman, of Sidney, was outpointed by G. Sharpe, and Bruce Low traveled an extra round to defeat Ron Service, of Royal Oak.

Frankie Hall was beaten by H. Bailey after a lot of hard hitting by both fighters, while W. Lewis gained the call over A. Coates.

Danny Pastro put over a knockout punch on Bill Hudson in the first round.

Jack Rithet presented the prizes to the winners of the bouts the previous week.

OTHER CHURCHES URGED TO RETRACE STEPS TO ROME

"The opportunity is afforded here for clarifying and confuting wrong opinion from which the whole present question seems to be depending and the multiform action of the non-Catholics—conspiring against the union of Christian churches—seems to be originating. Supporters of such initiative seem to be untiring in quoting Christ's words, 'there will be one flock, one shepherd,' in the sense, however, as if those words express Christ's wish and prayer which are not yet satisfied.

UNITY OF FAITH

"They, in fact, contend that the unity of both faith and government—which is a peculiarly real only to the church of Christ—never existed before now and does not even exist to-day. They say such unity may be desired and perhaps may be attained in the future through co-operation of the faithful, but meanwhile that it constitutes mere ideality.

"They say, furthermore, that the church by itself or by its very nature is divided into several parts, namely, that it is composed of many churches or particular communities which hitherto have been separated and, although having some doctrinal points in common, yet differ in others. They also hold that to each of these churches the same rights are due and the church—granting it ever was one and unique—was such from the Apostles' epoch to the early councils.

"They also affirm that putting aside controversies which hitherto have divided the Christian community, the remainder of the doctrines should constitute one common rule of faith in which all ought to feel as brothers, and that only if joined by a universal pact will the different churches be able to oppose the advance of incredulity.

"This, venerable brothers is what is commonly said.

"There are, however, some affirming that Protestantism has unwisely rejected certain points of faith, together with certain rites of external cult—certainly acceptable to use in full—which the Roman Church on the contrary is preserving. They, at the same time, add that this very church corrupted old Christianism by proposing belief in several doctrines which are not only alien but opposed to the gospel, including the doctrine about the primacy of jurisdiction granted the Roman see in Peter and his successors.

"Among those so contending there are a few who grant the Roman pontiff primacy of honor or certain jurisdictions, although they make the latter originating, not from divine right but, in a certain sense, from consent of the faithful.

"Others go even so far as to desire the pontiff to lead their multi-colored conventions.

"It is easy to find many non-Catholics preaching fraternal community in Christ, but it is hard to find even one willing to submit to the vicar of Christ or lend ear to his teachings.

"Meanwhile they themselves proclaim they are ready to deal with the Roman Church, though with parity of rights or equal footing, although it would be certain that if they deal in such a way they would do it with the intent of arriving at an agreement enabling them to maintain the very opinion ow keeping them outside the sole flock of Christ.

"It is clear that the apostolic see cannot, under such circumstances, participate in their meetings, nor can Catholics in any way adhere or support such attempts.

"Should they do so Catholics would lend authority to false Christian religion, far different from the sole church of Christ.

"But could we tolerate the most nefarious attempt of drawing the truth as divinely revealed into barterings? It is a just question, defending truth as revealed.

"Jesus sent the apostles to preach the gospel throughout the world, and in order that they might not err He wanted them taught in all truths by the Holy Ghost. Has, perhaps, this doctrine of the apostles ever failed or faded within the church, which is led and guarded by God himself? And if our Redeemer said His gospel concerned not only the apostolic period, but also future epochs, could the object of faith become so obscure and uncertain throughout the ages as to tolerate to-day conflicting opinions?

"If this is true, then it likewise could be said that the descent by the Holy Ghost on the apostles and the perpetual presence of the Holy Ghost within the church and even Christ's preaching had lost any usefulness or force for many centuries, but such an assertion would be tantamount to blasphemy.

"Furthermore, God's son not only commanded His messengers to teach all nations, but ordered the whole of mankind to believe the truths expounded to them by witnesses chosen by God. At the same time He strengthened His order with His sanction, whereby any one who shall believe and shall be baptized shall be safe and any one not believing shall be condemned.

"Now this doubt of the command of Christ of believing His teaching in order to have ternal safety could not be understood if the church would not have set forth the gospel and doctrine fully and clearly and the church would not be immune to the danger of erring in teaching.

"Therefore it is far from the truth that any one who, while admitting the existence of a store of truth on earth, thinks it must be sought with such hard efforts that man's life is hardly sufficient to find and enjoy it as if God had spoken through his Son and the prophets because only a few old men might learn the truth as revaled by Him.

"It may seem that these Pan-Christians, who are busy in uniting churches, are aiming at noble intent by promoting charity among all Christians, but how could charity be harmful to faith? Everybody knows that St. John, the Apostle of Charity, in his gospel revealed secrets most sacred to the heart of Jesus and used to preach a new commandment, 'Love one another.' He prohibited having intercourse with those not professing Christ's doctrine fully, saying, 'If anybody comes to your home who does not profess such doctrine, don't admit him nor even salute him.'

UNITY IN FAITH

"Therefore, inasmuch as charity is based on sincere and integral faith it is necessary that disciples of Christ be united principally through the bond of unity in faith.

"How then can we conceive a Christian community whose members freely maintain their own way of thinking even though it be opposed to the way of others?

"How could men following opposite principles be part of one and an equal community of the faithful? How could one form a part of such a union where there are those affirming the sacred tradition is a genuine source of divine revelation and those denying; those holding the ecclesiastical hierarchy is composed of bishops, priests and ministers as divinely constituted and those affirming the hierarchy was gradually organized through times and circumstances; those worshiping Christ as present in the holy eucharist through transubstantiation, and those stating that the body of Christ is present there only through faith or as a sign and virtue of the sacrament; those recognizing the nature of sacrifice and sacrament in the eucharist and those maintaining that the eucharist is simly a recollection or commemoration of the last supper; those esteeming the invocation to the saints especially to the Virgin Mary, together with the veneration of their images as good and useful, and those contending that such a cult is illicit because it is opposed to the honor of the only mediator between God and man, namely Jesus Christ?

"In view of such variance of opinions we do not know how it is possible to prepare the ground for unity of the church in view of the fact that such unity cannot arise except from one authority, one law and one faith in Christians. We do, however, know it is easy from such variance to fall into indifference toward religion and into modernism which makes believe that dogmatic truth is not absolute comparative, namely, subject to the various needs of times and circumstances and tendencies of the spirit, since it is not based upon immutable revelation but upon conformity to life.

"Furthermore, it is not consented in the matter of faith to resort to a difference between fundamental and non-fundamental articles as if the former should be accepted by all and the latter left free to acceptance by the faithful.

"The supernatural virtue of faith cannot consent to such difference since it has good formal authority as the cause. Hence all Christians give to the dogma of the immaculate conception the same faith as to the mystery of the holy trinity and believe in the incarnation of God the same as in the infallibility of the Roman pontiff in the sense set by the vatican ecumenic council.

"Not because these truths are solely proclaimed by the church in various epochs even though far from us are we less certain or less credible. Is it not perhaps God who proclaimed them? The authority of the church, although daily exercised by the Roman pontiff and the bishops occasionally clarifies certain points through rites and decrees in the event it is necessary to oppose errors or assaults by heretics or to explain more clearly points in the minds of the faithful.

"This exercise of authority, however, does not imply additions to the ensemble of doctrines contained in the store of revelations entrusted to the church, but only amounts to clarification of points which may still seem to be obscure or the establishment, as a matter of faith, of truhts held controversial.

RETURN TO CHURCH

"Meanwhile, venerable brothers, it is easy to understand why this apostolic see never permitted your faithful to attend congresses of non-Catholics because the unity of Christians cannot be promoted otherwise than by the return of dissidents to the only true church of Christ from which, one unhappy day, they detached themselves.

"They must return to the true and only church of Christ, which as manifested by the will of its Founder must remain forever the same as He instituted for the salvation of all.

"The mystic bride of Christ throughout the centuries was never contaminated, nor will ever be contaminated according to the beautiful words of Cyprianus. The bride of Christ cannot be adulterated. She is corruptibly chaste. She knows one house alone. She guards with pure chastity the holiness of her one home.'

"Hence, this same holy martyr wondered with good reason that any one could believe 'that this unity which proceeds from divine stability and is strengthened by means of the heavenly sacraments can divide herself from the church and separate herself through disagreement of discordant wills.'

"The church being mystic, the body of Christ is one well joined and solidly bound as a physical body. It would be stupidity to say that the mystic body can be composed of disjointed and separated members. Whoever is not united with it is not a member, nor communes with the head who is Christ.

"In this only church of Christ there is no one who does not recognize and accept obediently Peter's superior authority; also that of his successors.

"Did not the ancestors of those who, clouded by the errors of Phoetius and of Protestants, obey the Bishops of Rome as the highest pastor of souls?

"Unfortunately the sons abandoned the Father's house, but it has not ruined, and thus sustained as it was by the constant help of God, may they return to the common Father. He, forgetting injuries thrown against the apostolic see, will receive them with affection in His heart. Those who, if as they say, desire to unite with us and our, why do they not rush to return to the church which is mother and mistress of all followers of Christ?

"May they listen to the words of Lactantius, 'Only the Catholic Church is considered the true religion. It is the fountain of truth, home of the faith, temple of God in which, if one does not enter or if one withdraws, he remains far from the hope of life and health.

"'It is not wise that others seek to deceive themselves by willful disputes here if life, the health of which if not provided for with diligent care, will fail and die.'

"Then, to the apostolic see which was placed in this city that the prince apostles Peter and Paul consecrated with their blood, to the apostolic see which is the root and matrix of the Catholic Church, may the dissident sons return. Not with the idea and hope that the church of the living God, the pillar and support of the truth, may permit them to reject part of the faith or to tolerae their errors, but to submit to its magistracy of government.

"May we wish that God, who permitted us much which was not given to our predecessors, permit us to embrace with the soul of a father those sons who separated from us by disastrous dissensions?

"Alas, our Divine Saviour, who wishes that all men might be saved, may you be pleased to call all the wandering sheep to the unity of the church. For this, without grave doubts, we invoke the intercession of the blessed Virgin Mary, mother of divine grace, conqueror of all heresies, to give aid to Christians that we may hasten that day when all men will hear the voice of her divine Son conserving the unity of spirit in the bond of peace.

DESIRE FOR UNITY

"You well understand, venerable brothers, how much we desire this return. We wish that all our sons know it, not alone Catholics but dissidents from us, who without doubt, if they implore the divine light in humble prayer, will recognize the true church of Christ in it and will enter finally united with us in perfect charity."

ARMED POLICE WATCHING CHINATOWN

OUTBREAK FEARED

Initiated over charitable funds the tangle has now become embittered with a general taking of sides, and more than a prospect of active trouble if measures are not taken to cope with the situation. Beyond saying they have the situation in hand the police authoritiesc have not disclosed what measures they are taking.

Brighton, Ont., Jan. 23.—The repeated ringing of a fire alarm in the Brighton high school, causing pupils to dash out in hurried fashion, gave rise to a cry of "spooke" in this district. The janitor, however, discovered he had left a broom standing against a push button. A mouse crawling up the broomstick nibble at the button, causing the alarm to ring.

"I talked him out of it - - -"

"IF I had only known this would happen! So suddenly! So unexpectedly! And when everything looked so promising!

"And to think that time after time he wanted to increase his life insurance and I talked him out of it. How hard I worked against myself and against my own interests. I wanted a bigger house. I wanted luxuries! I wanted everything except the protection he was urging me to accept.

"I got my own way, of course. The Life Insurance was not taken. I robbed the children of their education, of my care, perhaps of their future success in life. I robbed myself of the children's companionship. For now I must leave them to earn the money needed to keep our little family together - - the money that Life Insurance would have given me if he had had his way - -

"- - and I talked him out of it."

It has been truly said that, "If every wife knew what every widow knows, every man would carry adequate Life Insurance".

And too often it is the children who must pay the penalty of the wife's prejudice.

THE SESSION

A COMMANDING FEATURE OF THE session which will begin to-morrow will be the first appearance in the House of Hon. J. D. MacLean as Prime Minister. A note of sadness will be imparted to the proceedings, however, by the absence of the late Premier Oliver, while the late Dr. Rothwell, too, will be missed.

Premier MacLean will meet the House under favorable auspices. The year which has just closed has been a remarkably prosperous one for British Columbia. In mining and agriculture the returns for 1927 were highly encouraging; lumbering showed a slight decline in comparison with 1926; but indications are that 1928 will be another bumper year in most of the basic industries, with the exception, perhaps, of fishing in some branches, a prospect largely accounted for by certain restricting regulations which it may be necessary to impose in regard to salmon and halibut. A marked increase in the number of manufacturing plants in the Province and industrial employees engaged are still more encouraging signs for greater progress and prosperity this year. Home building in all parts of British Columbia, particularly in the larger centres on the coast, has gone ahead by leaps and bounds. Outside capital continually is increasing its interest in this Province and apparently is fully satisfied with its prospects.

The majority which the Government can command in the House may not be as large as it might wish; but in all important matters of public policy it may count upon all the support it requires. The economic situation of the Province to which we have referred is the most convincing proof that there is nothing the matter with British Columbia, that the generalities with which Conservative speakers continue to regale the public cut a poor figure when compared with those policies which have stood the test, the operation of which have enabled the Minister of Finance to cut taxation, increase the size of sinking funds, and generally to protect adequately the best interests of the public as a whole.

This year's budget naturally will be awaited with interest. Although the Premier has not committed himself on the subject so far, we may assume that he will arrange his finances so that the taxpayer may get the benefit in the shape of lower charges. Relief which has been extended to him during the last year or so has been appreciated. That policy undoubtedly has been an important factor in producing the present prosperous condition in which the Province finds itself.

Whether the Government will be in a position to hold out any encouraging prospects with respect to the Pacific Great Eastern Railway remains to be seen. A number of proposals have been made to Premier MacLean during recent months; but they do not seem to have been of a nature that offers a solution. Meanwhile, of course, the management has been successful in reducing the annual deficit and improving the service. It can do no more. As in other years, however, we may assume that a good deal of time will be consumed, much of it needlessly, in the coming weeks in discussing the subject.

At present there is no rule by which the length of speeches may be curtailed, an experiment which the House of Commons at Ottawa will make during the session which begins on Thursday; we nevertheless may express the hope that some of the more loquacious members will bear in mind the fact that usually the short speech is the most effective.

THE PACIFIC CABLE

THERE IS GOING ON IN LONDON A conference between representatives of the British countries responsible for the operation of the Pacific cable. The whole subject of inter-Empire communication will be reviewed; but one of the most important items of business on the agenda obviously will be a discussion of the loss in operating and what must be done in regard to it. In this Canada has a direct interest.

When the Pacific cable was built at the beginning of the present century it was sponsored by the governments of Great Britain, Canada, Australia and New Zealand in the following financial proportion: Great Britain, five-eighteenths; Canada, five-eighteenths; Australia, six-eighteenths; New Zealand, two-eighteenths. By the end of 1915 it had sustained a loss of nearly $3,500,000, and towards making this good Canada had to fork out well on to one million.

It was agreed that the governments obligated were to share both losses and profits in the proportion already noted above. By the end of 1925, however, a surplus of $11,000,000 had been accumulated. Our share of this would have been in the neighborhood of $3,000,000. But we did not get a cent of it. On the contrary, and in the face of vigorous protests from the Canadian Government, the Pacific Cable Board proceeded to duplicate its equipment by building an additional line from the Fiji Islands to this coast. Into that went the $11,000,000 surplus.

It will be recalled that Hon. Charles Murphy, then Postmaster-General, opposed this duplication on several grounds. He contended that the Board had no legal right to establish a reserve fund to be used for new construction. The Manitoba Free Press, moreover, reminds us that another point was that new construction could be undertaken only on the unanimous consent of all the Governments. Mr. Murphy also claimed that the contract prices were too high and that sufficient investigation had not been made of the materials to be used in the building of the new cable.

We are reminded, too, that Mr. Murphy went further than this. He attacked the whole scheme of duplication on the ground that nothing should be done toward additional submarine cable building until the Board had seen the results of the Marconi wireless experiments for fast sending known as the "beam" system. This system reached the practical stage in 1926, and is now in constant use between the British Isles and Canada, and between Canada and Australia and New Zealand. It is said to be proving entirely successful, is much faster, can handle much more business than the submarine cable, and is much cheaper. One result is that the cable is reported to have been operated at a loss of $400,000 in 1927. This has happened, incidentally, in the first year of "beam" operation with the system working more or less on experimental lines.

What the Marconi Company has in mind with respect to its own operations with the "beam" wireless is indicated by the following extract from a statement which Lord Inverforth made at the annual meeting of the organization in December:

> The company's construction programme, which was commenced in 1925, is now practically complete. In addition to the beam stations which have been erected for the post office and for our associated companies in Canada, Australia, South Africa and India, the company has erected beam stations for communication with North and South America. The provision of stations for the Portuguese company has involved an expenditure of some £350,000. The Protuguese concession was obtained by your company early in 1922.

The whole condition shows that the Canadian Government was on firm ground when it objected to a duplication of the service already in operation. It recognized the development that had taken place in all forms of communication and took its stand accordingly. No doubt the Board now wishes it had used its $11,000,000 more wisely.

PRINCE RUPERT

RESIDENTS OF PRINCE RUPERT sometimes get a little touchy when slighting references are made to the amount of rain that descends upon that enterprising and prosperous city. If they are reminded that nearly ninety inches fell in 1927, they immediately reply, and with every justification, that they enjoyed 1,175 hours of bright sunshine, compared with 740 hours in 1926 and about 1,000 in 1925. On the theory that variety is the spice of life, they regard this distribution of sun and rain all the year round as much better than several quite wet months on end that are followed by several quite dry ones. We suggest that there is something in the argument; we observe, however, incidentally, that similar treatment from the elements in Victoria would not be good for our growing and profitable tourist business.

By the same token, the residents of Prince Rupert have a just complaint against those people in this part of the Province who frequently allude to their city as situated in northern British Columbia, and the hinterland as if it were up in the Arctic circle. It is only necessary to take one glance at the map to realize that Prince Rupert is situated about half-way up the coast line of this Province, that the rich hinterland which is an ever-increasing source of wealth to the city is in one of the most fertile sections of central British Columbia. Our friends in Prince Rupert also remind us occasionally that their port is nearer to the great Oriental market than the ports on this part of the coast. This can not be denied. So that if Prince Rupert's rainfall may at times provoke mirth among those who dwell in drier climates, that city has many important compensations.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

GENEROSITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

From The Calgary Herald

The American nation has been subjected to criticism for its attitude towards European affairs and war debts. Its course in connection with these matters is dictated by national policies. These do not control the action of the American people. The latter's generosity to suffering people of European nations can be placed to the credit of the United States to offset the seeming severity of the American treatment of the subject of war debts and participation in the League of Nations and the World Court.

The Rockefeller Foundation may be quoted as only one of many huge philanthropies that have benefited the world. This Foundation has invested funds amounting to $15,000,000. It is able to spend more than $9,000,000 annually and this sum is used each year to combat diseases and in giving health service in forty-eight countries. Its work ranges from rural health activities in the United States to maintaining a medical school in China.

No country in the world in recent times has equaled the extent of American giving for health, education, scientific research, the furthering of Christianity and for the relief of those in distress in countries besides their own.

DO YOU KNOW—

It is estimated, that every minute during the day and night a fire occurs somewhere in the United States. Each year 15,000 persons are burned to death and many thousands injured. Fires destroy property worth $750,000,000 annually.

THE PERFUME BAZAAR, in Morocco City, is one of the quaintest and prettiest nooks in the North African metropolis. Covered with its canopies of reeds and fibers to keep out the merciless rays of the sun, the bazaar holds a fascinating appeal for the Moors. Here all sorts of strange spices and scents are sold, as well as the usual commodities of drugs. The bazaar intrigues foreign visitors with its Oriental odors.

GYRO CLUBMEN AT ANNUAL FUNCTION

Officers Installed at Banquet in Empress Hotel Saturday

New officers of the Victoria Gyro Club were installed at the annual ceremonial banquet at the Empress Hotel on Saturday night by District Gyro Governor Albert Bergeron, Portland, Oregon.

Arnold W. Trevett, as president, Roy Manzer, as vice-president, William C. Hudson as secretary and Oliver M. Prentice as treasurer, were installed formally by the governor. An executive consisting of the following members was placed in office: Frank Burton, William A. Cameron, Harry Dawson, A. C. MacNeill and Robert S. Yates.

There were sixty-nine Gyro Clubs in Canada and the United States, said Mr. Bergeron in part. Of this sprinkling of Gyro headquarters there was not one slack organization. Every club was hard-working and industrious. The 4,000 members of Gyro had made a mark for themselves and had established a reputation.

The Northwest District Convention would be held in Victoria this year, said Mr. Bergeron, and it was expected, by those outside the city, that this will be one of the best gatherings in the history of Gyro.

Past District Governor E. V. Finland presented retiring president Archie Wills with his past president's pin amid applause.

Miss Marjorie Watson and Miss Merle North rendered vocal solos. Harry Crawford gave a humorous political address as a feature of the entertainment.

Telegrams of congratulation were received from various officers and clubs in Gyro.

Dancing followed the formalities.

GOAT BREEDERS ELECT OFFICERS

Annual Meeting Shows Provincial Association to Be in Sound Condition

A. Lamb, of Vancouver, was unanimously re-elected president of the British Columbia Goat Breeders' Association at the annual meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. building on Saturday evening. Other officers elected were: Vice-president Miss Jean Harvey of Victoria; secretary-treasurer, George Pilmer, of the Department of Agriculture, Victoria; the board of directors elected were J. O. Gill of Vancouver; J. Walker, of New Westminster; M. C. Hooper of Victoria; J. E. Planta, of Nanaimo, and B. G. Ebbutt, of Creston.

The report of the president showed that during the year much important work had been accomplished, the most important being the shipment of a carload of milk goats to Calgary and Edmonton. This shipment had proved most popular and had helped to popularize the milk goat on the prairie. Already the association has received other orders from Alberta and Saskatchewan as well as numerous inquiries from Ontario.

Results from an extensive advertising campaign to boost British Columbia and British Columbia stock showed that many inquiries had been made, together with a fair number of sales. Two bucks had been shipped to Ontario, two to Indiana, and a carload to the prairies.

The association had, during the last year, made a thorough check-up on the milk records of the British Columbia goats and had tested the butterfat in Victoria and district. It is expected that this work will be extended to the Mainland during the coming year. The milk standards at the fairs had been raised also, it was pointed out, a goat now having to milk at least three or three and a half quarts a day before being entered on the prize list. Shows this year had been especially large and record ones had been held at Victoria, Vancouver, New Westminster, North Vancouver, Saanichton, Metchosin and Coombs.

Mrs. J. Cotsford Again President of Presbyterian Body

At the closing session of Victoria Presbyterial held in St. Andrew's Church reports were received showing the past year had been most successful, with a marked increase in the volume of work accomplished.

The financial statement exceeded last year's outstanding report in a most satisfactory way.

Mrs. H. Pillar, provincial president, conducted the election and installation of officers for 1928, as follows: Mrs. D. Macrae, honorary president; Mrs. J. Cotsford, president; Mrs. J. A. McIntosh, first vice-president; Mrs. W. L. Clay, second vice-president; Mrs. J. S. Patterson, third vice-president; Mrs. J. R. Eldridge, recording secretary; Mrs. R. A. Brown, corresponding secretary; Mrs. T. Humphries, Mission Band secretary; Mrs. John Dempsey, supply secretary; Mrs. John Simpson, Y.W. secretary; Mrs. W. C. Wilson, Home Helpers' secretary; Mrs. J. J. Dewar, welcome and welfare; Miss Jean MacLaren, library secretary; Mrs. Morris, Glad Tidings; Mrs. J. P. Dempsey, press. The office of treasurer was left vacant for the present.

A warm vote of thanks was extended to the officers of 1927 for their efficient help; to those assisting on the musical programme; to the press for its courtesy in reporting the work as occasion required, and to all others who in various ways have helped to make last year so successful.

MANY ROYALTIES IN LONDON FOR SEASON

Brilliant Season to Open in February; Many State Functions

London, Jan. 23—The pre-Lenten season, which greatly brightens English society folk after Winter drabness, will be in full swing by the first week in February, when King George and Queen Mary return from their rest at Sandringham Palace. The usual society functions of this early season will be somewhat extended and brightened by the visit to London of the King and Queen of Afghanistan, and possibly by the presence of Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium and his pretty wife, the former Princess Astrid of Sweden.

The Duke and Duchess of York intend to take a greater interest in social events, now that young Princess Elizabeth is growing up, and will figure prominently in various functions throughout the season.

In addition to attending state functions, in connection with the visit of the Afghanistan rulers, the Duke and Duchess will give several dinners and receptions and will be the central figures on February 2, at the marriage of the Duchess' brother, Captain Michael Bowes-Lyon, to Miss Elizabeth Cator.

Only a few days after this outstanding society event come the big political receptions prior to the opening of Parliament, chief of which will be Lady Londonderry's reception for the Conservative members of Parliament and Lady Beauchamp's reception for members of the Liberal party.

Hotels and clubs already are swamped with applications from society matrons who will give "coming-out" dances for daughters and all indications are that the society events of this pre-Spring season will be as brilliant as those of last year.

PHILANTHROPIST TO BUILD ORPHANAGE

J. D. O'Connell to Erect Institution at Edmonton; Known Here

New York, Jan. 23.—The New York Times says J. D. O'Connell, known throughout North and Central America and the West Indies as "the Orphans' Friend," is building an orphanage at Edmonton, Alberta, because he was unable to find room in the orphanages there for seven children for whom he had assumed responsibility.

Mr. O'Connell plans to make the orphanage non-sectarian, although it will be managed by Roman Catholic Sisters of Charity.

A picnic given to the boys and girls of the district on a farm in the province of New Brunswick fifty-three years ago with the first pennies he earned started Mr. O'Connell in his philanthropic activities.

Recently he sent a draft to the Mayor of Albany, N.Y., for a sufficient amount to give a new twenty-five-cent piece to each child in the orphanage on Christmas.

PRETTY WEDDING AT SAANICHTON CHURCH

Isobel Neal Becomes Bride of Thomas Buckerfield Dixon

Keating, Jan. 23—A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Church, Saanichton, on Friday evening, at 7.30 o'clock, when Rev. J. S. A. Bastin united in marriage Isobel Neal, youngest daughter of Theodore David Neal and Mrs. Neal, of the parish of Great Aine, Warwickshire, England, and Thomas Buckerfield Dixon, East Saanich Road.

Given in marriage by Mr. C. L. Styan, the bride was becomingly gowned in a dress of white flat crepe, rhinestone trimming adorning the girdle, neck and sleeves. Her beautiful veil of silk embroidered net was worn cap fashion, with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and maidenhair fern. Mrs. C. L. Styan attended the bride as matron of honor. Mr. H. Rowntree supported the groom as best man.

As the bridal party left the church the wedding march was played by Mrs. F. Goodwin.

After the ceremony a reception, at which only a few friends were present, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Styan, Central Saanich Road. The health of the happy couple was proposed by Mr. H. E. Tanner and was responded to by the bridegroom, and the beautiful wedding cake was cut by the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon will reside on Central Saanich Road, the bridegroom being one of the largest fruit growers in the district.

A three-act farce, "Safety First," will be presented in the Temperance Hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock by members of the South Saanich Young People's Club of the United Church. The play proved a huge success on Friday evening when it was presented before a large audience at Colwood, and has been voted even better than the previous popular presentations of "Deacon Dubbs" and "All On Account of Polly." The sale of tickets has been brisk and a large crowd is anticipated.

A large crowd of basketball fans from Keating and surrounding districts and from Victoria were in attendance at the Temperance Hall on Friday evening when three games were played, the visiting teams being the Meteors, the Victoria All Stars and the Crescents from Victoria.

The local teams gained the honors for the evening, succeeding in winning the girls' and the senior men's matches, the intermediate team going down to defeat after a very close struggle. Refreshments and dancing followed the games.

The line-up was as follows:

Meteors—H. Nick, I. Gibson, Alexander, B. Martin, C. Todd, J. Cook, J. Speed.

Keating Girls—A. Styan, N. Styan, D. Michell, W. Griffiths and H. Griffiths.

All Stars—A. Foubister, Temple, Wood, Purvis, Petticrew.

Keating Intermediates—F. Sutton, N. Tanner, G. Michell, S. Bickford, F. Polson, M. Bickford.

Crescents—R. Lowe, McConnel, S. Jones, V. Jones, E. Laird, R. Thorpe.

Keating Seniors—S. Bate, R. Michell, M. Atkinson, C. Cunningham, L. Styan and A. Bickford.

The South Saanich Women's Institute entertained one of the largest crowds of the season at the card party held in the Temperance Hall on Saturday evening when the hostesses were the directors, Mrs. H. Lawrie, Mrs. Nimmo, Mrs. Styan, Mrs. F. Young and Mrs. Mosher. Ten tables were in play for honors and two forts tied for first prize with twenty-four flags. Final winners of first prizes were Mrs. Hydes, Mrs. Mosher, Mr. Oxley and W. Bate, while Misses Edith Bickford and Grace Miller and Messrs. B. Bickford and Lacoursiere were awarded second prizes. Refreshments were served after the game by the hostesses.

The Saanich Fruit Growers will hold the annual general meeting and election of officers in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, January 26, at 8 o'clock.

CHILDREN'S PARTY AT YACHT CLUB

Miss Gloria Wilson Hostess to Eighty For Birthday Celebration

Many pretty and original costumes were worn by the little guests at the delightful children's fancy dress party given by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson at the Royal Victoria Yacht Club in honor of the ninth birthday of their only daughter, Gloria. The little hostess received her guests, who numbered nearly eighty, in a spider-web costume, with silver and sequin embroidery on a background of cobweb grey, representing the dewdrops shimmering on the web.

After partaking in games and dances the children formed into the grand march and proceeded upstairs at 4.30 to the tea room, which was most attractively decorated. Conspicuous was a snow man, complete with rakish "topper" and clay pipe and illuminated from within, against a background of boughs covered with hoar-frost. The three long tables were gay with multi-colored balloons and illuminated with quaint rustic lamp-posts, with birds silhouetted on the panes of glass. PRESENT BANNERS TO JUNIOR W.A.

Chinese Children Entertain Meeting of Columbia W.A. Juniors

Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall was thronged Saturday afternoon with members of the Junior Woman's Auxiliary. The diocesan president, Mrs. James Dickson, was in the chair. A bouquet of beautiful flowers was presented to Mrs. Chrow, diocesan junior superintendent, by Mrs. Brooks on behalf of the junior branches, who all vigorously expressed their delight and approval.

Two front rows were filled with pupils of the kindergarten class of the Good Hope Mission, in charge of Mrs. Field and Mrs. Buoi Ding Li, who entertained the meeting with action songs in Chinese and English, the tiny son of Rev. and Mrs. Buoi Ding Li giving a solo, which was received with loud applause.

BANNERS PRESENTED

Reports from twenty-two branches were read by the youthful secretaries and aroused much interest, showing increase in membership and good work accomplished, the newest branch, that at James Bay, being cordially welcomed by the meeting. The member at Mayne Island was not forgotten and the hope expressed that she will soon be joined by other members. In the meantime she has been "adopted" by a city branch.

Mrs. Chrow then presented banners for increased membership to St. Mary's, Oak Bay, and Christ Church Cathedral branches; to St. Matthias for passing with highest marks in the senior examination, and a special banner to St. Saviour's, whose renewed vigor is due to the efforts of their superintendent, Mrs. Moss, to whom a special tribute was paid.

Book prizes were given to Marjorie Tudor of St. Alban's branch, who has not missed a meeting for seven years, and to Ruth Whitcock, of St. Luke's, for receiving highest marks in examination.

In the out-of-town branches banners were awarded to Queen Margaret's School, Duncan, for the highest percentage in the senior examination and to Courtenay in the junior examination. A prize was awarded Doris Bischlager, of St. John's, Duncan, for obtaining the highest percentage of marks in the out-of-town examination.

BISHOP'S COMMENDATION

The bishop of the diocese spoke of his pleasure in hearing how well the branches had performed their tasks and of the good progress made toward their objective for the new cathedral and asked for an increased number of branches before next year's annual.

Following the benediction and singing of the doxology, the bishop dismissed the meeting to gather in the gymnasium, where refreshments were served.

GIVE SOUVENIRS TO REV. DR. CAMPBELL

On Saturday Rev. Dr. Campbell was presented by the Moore-Whittington Lumber Company with a unique gift, a pair of candlesticks beautifully made from parts of the front door of First Presbyterian Church of which he was pastor for nearly a quarter of a century.

The church was built in 1863, under the pastorate of Rev. John Hall of Belfast, Ireland. It was the first Presbyterian Church built west of the mountains, indeed west of Winnipeg (Klidonian), and is now one of the largest congregationas in British Columbia. The old church is now being demolished, and the congregation worship in their fine new church on Quadra Street, with Rev. Dr. Wilson as pastor.

Dr. Campbell says the candlesticks will be treasured heirloom in the house of "Breadalbane."

W.I. DISCUSSES CONFERENCE PLANS

Want More Time Given to Speakers at May Gathering

"Whereas the members of this institute feel that addresses given by speakers interested in women's institute work are a distinct benefit and inspiration to endeavor and should be extended the courtesy of time and attention, and whereas this cannot be given them when they are only allowed a brief half hour or so in the midst of convention business which has often to be rushed through or left unfinished, therefore be it resolved that the District Board so arrange the convention programme that morning and afternoon sessions shall be devoted to women's institute business and discussion exclusively and that speakers be asked to address convention in the evening and that members, friends and the general public be invited to attend."

This resolution, sponsored by the Shirley Women's Institute, was passed at the meeting of the Victoria W.I. on Friday afternoon. It refers to the coming Islands district conference to be held at Duncan in May.

Mrs. W. Peden, the president, was in the chair, and twenty-one members responded to the roll call. Letters from the Department of Agriculture, the Solarium, City Council and the film censor were read and dealt with. The members decided to make thirty-six nightgowns for the Solarium in response to a request for help from the W.A. to the Solarium. The City Council granted the request of the institute to hold a tag day in aid of the Solarium, the date to be September 8.

The institute will affiliate with the Local Council of Women and delegates to annual meeting will be Mesdames Terry, Palmer, Adam and Campbell.

CAUSES OF ECZEMA TOO VARIED FOR ONE CURE

Mrs. O. E. Y.

Thank you for offering to give help to one of my readers, but this is a courtesy which I cannot extend to readers. Besides, I am afraid that the cure of eczema is too individual a matter for you to feel that because you cured your baby that the same thing would cure another child. Eczema is caused by something wrong with the child's food, but what that "wrong" thing is varies with different children. The cure comes from changing the food and not from any salves, though these are helpful in healing the skin eruption temporarily. We offer general information on what foods may be responsible for eczema which may be had by sending a self-addressed and stamped envelope to this department.

Mrs. J. W. R.

It was very interesting to hear that you had been cured of persistent bed-wetting by osteopathic treatments. It was nice of you to write me about it. Perhaps Mrs. O. L. Y. will read this and know that you suggested that she try this.

Mrs. H. J. S. writes:

"I have a baby boy twenty months old who, during the last month, has wakened one or more times at night. He has not wakened at night since seven months of age. We try letting him cry and after a while he stops, but we find him sitting up wide awake. Our doctor does not find anything wrong with him. He has sixteen teeth, weighs twenty-eight and one-half pounds and has four bottles of milk daily, vegetables, cereals, eggs and bread. He seems perfectly healthy."

ANSWER

The boy's diet is right (barring fruits) and his weight is excellent. The cause of his nightly wakefulness must come from other causes. Too much activity in the daytime. Not a long enough nap period. Too much excitement just before bedtime. Too much food at the night meal. These are the most frequent causes of wakefulness. Are you reading him exciting stories in the daytime or just at bedtime? Try and weed out the possible causes and prevent the formation of any habits of demanding attention at night by giving the boy a drink of water, covering him up and leaving him alone. After he has gone back to sleep you can make sure that he is adequately covered for the night.

Impressive Double Funeral Held For Mr. and Mrs. Nisbet

Impressive funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon for the late Phillip Ross Nisbet and his wife, Catherine Gammel Nisbet, whose remains were laid to rest side by side in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery. The cortege left the B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2.15 o'clock, proceeding to the Metropolitan Church, where the services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Sippreil, D.D. The choir was in attendance and the hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Lead, Kindly Light," while Mrs. W. H. Wilson sang the solo, "Crossing the Bar."

A large congregation attended the services, including a delegation from the I.O.D.E., and many beautiful floral tributes covered the two caskets.

The pallbearers for Mrs. Nisbet were Capt. T. H. Brown, Dr. S. J. Willis and C. E. Watkins, sons-in-law; and Jim Brown, Tom Watkins and Phil Willis, grandsons; those acting for Mr. Nisbet being Sam Turpel, Alex. Monteith, Harry Monteith and Shirley Smith, all old friends in the ship-carpentering trade, and A. M. Kirk and G. D. Christie.

KUMTUKS CELEBRATE SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

The seventh anniversary of the founding of the Kumtuks Club was celebrated at a very successful birthday party, held at the home of the president, Miss Mabel Cameron, on Saturday evening, and attended by a large number of members. A warm welcome was extended to Miss Jessie Murray of Vancouver, who was the guest of Miss Wigley for the occasion.

A photographic contest, in which members were asked to identify a number of early portraits, caused much amusement, and in this, as in a competition on the dispensation of a mythical fortune, Miss Murray of Vancouver won the first prize. Mrs. Grute won the contest for the most artistic dressing of a clothes-peg doll.

The hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. W. G. Cameron, served delicious refreshments, Miss Wigley and Mrs. H. P. Hodges, past presidents of the club, presiding at the tea table, while Miss Lottie Bowron, the founder and first president, cut the birthday cake with its iced replica of the Kumtuks badge and its seven candles.

NEWS IN BRIEF

The monthly meeting of the Tuberculous Veterans Section, Post No. 18, B.E.S.L., has been postponed from January 24 to January 31.

Urgent business will come before the industrial group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a meeting to be held Tuesday at 11 o'clock under the chairmanship of P. B. Fowler.

Through the absence of the chief witness the case of Robert and Charles Davidson charged with stealing two guns, a fishing rod, a sack of flour from Clement O'Brien, Otter Point, was adjourned until this afternoon by Judge Lampman.

Members of the Engineers' Institute have been invited to attend the lecture on geology to be given by Robert Connell at 203 Union Building, under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Prospectors' Association to-morrow night at 8 o'clock.

Opinions of Victoria held by prairie visitors are sought by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. A printed form is circulated on which their names and addresses are written, and remarks of interest on their visit asked for. These are then forwarded to their home town papers.

The Prairie Club will hold its annual social and dance in the Sons of Canada Hall, View Street, to-morrow evening. The social will be held from 8 to 10 p.m., after which dancing will continue until 1 o'clock. Ozard's orchestra will be in attendance, and refreshments will be served.

A lecture on "Geology of Vancouver Island," by the Rev. Robert Connell, will be given under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Prospectors' Association to-morrow at 8 p.m. at 203 Union Building. Members of the Engineering Institute of Canada, Victoria branch, are invited to attend.

A special service will be held at the King's Hall, Yates Street, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock, when Norman P. Grubb will give a lecture on the work in connection with the Heart of Africa Mission. Mr. Grubb is a son-in-law to C. T. Studd, founder and director of the mission. Rev. Daniel Walker will conduct the service.

John Stephens and James Riley, both previously convicted of being intoxicated in a public place, the latter arraigned for the seventh time in about three years on this count, pleaded guilty and went to jail to-day. Magistrate Jay gave Stephens twenty days and Riley two months imprisonment.

Bing, a Chinaman, was sentenced to six months' hard labor by Magistrate Jay in the City Police Court this morning when he pleaded guilty to a charge of supplying an Indian with an intoxicant. The Indian was a police informant and the money he paid for the wine he got from Bing was found on the person of the accused.

Mrs. Horace Hamlet and Mrs. F. G. Claudet will be soloists on a programme following a lecture to be given by Major F. V. Longstaff in the Connaught Institute to-morrow evening. An excellent programme has been arranged to follow Major Longstaff's address. Boys of the Naval Brigade are contributing to the programme.

An order for the sale of the Salt Spring Island sawmill owned by the Pacific Northwest Lumber Company was made by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald in the Supreme Court at Vancouver. The property is held by J. M. Turner, receiver, who has had an offer of $60,000, according to K. Walkem, counsel for Mrs. Ida M. Bottoms of Texarkana, Ark., claimant for $30,000.

Susan Smith, proprietress of the Empire Rooms, was fined $75 by Magistrate Jay to-day when she pleaded guilty to a charge of having liquor in other than a private guest room at the Empire Hotel. R. C. Lowe appeared for the defendant and entered her plea. Sergeant James Florence, together with Constables Littlefield and Blackstock found the store of liquor on the hotel premises.

"Admiral Plunkett," Senator Borah continued, "repeats the old wornout fable that the way to have peace is to prepare for war. When the World War broke out the nations responsible for that war were armed to the teeth. They had bled their people white in the name of the hoary lie that arms mean peace."

"If one single nation could arm to the limit and all other nations would refuse to arm, it might mean peace for that particularly armed nation. But the minute one begins to arm, all other nations begin to do so and then a few threats are put out and war is easy and indeed inevitable."

Whether another war comes or not, the Senator said he believed the new naval programme would not only eliminate the possibility of tax reduction in the United States but would increase the taxes.

Observing that the remaining war debt was about $18,000,000,000, and that the hospitals still held victims of the last war, Senator Borah said:

"Someone had better have a voice in this matter besides those whose business is not to declare policies."

REMARKS RECORDED

New York, Jan. 23—The New York Times quotes Read-Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, commandant of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, as denying he had predicted war with Great Britain.

"I don't remember what I did say," The Times quotes the admiral as saying. "You go get the record. You will see what I said and you will get something worth while. My remarks were taken down stenographically."

"I am not in the habit of predicting war. Preparedness, in my mind and in the minds of all other navy and army men, leads to peace and not to war."

The stenographic record of the admiral's address was not available.

SPOKE PLAINLY

The New York Sunday Herald-Tribune's account of a public speech by the admiral on Saturday said:

"He was asked later if he anticipated war with Great Britain.

"The answer was unequivocal," said the Herald-Tribune.

"Yes," he said, "I mean Great Britain or some other nation whose interests are affected. Great Britain may not at the outset declare war, but she will let some smaller nation do that and get behind it."

FIREMEN WANT ACTION ON PLAN OF PENSIONS

Ask Definite Reply to Their Petition in Communication to City

Repeating their request for the institution of a scheme of pension benefits under the Provincial Superannuation Act, members of the Victoria Fire Department wrote the City Council today, through spokesmen appointed by the group. The communication, which will go before the City Council to-night, asks for a definite reply as to what is intended to be done in relation to their demand for a pension plan in accordance with the petition of the group under the Superannuation Act.

The firemen were the first to announce their intention of relying on the Provincial measure, and filed their petition early in the proceedings when the matter was under review before the city. What action has been taken or will be taken is the question contained in the communication to go before the council.

Other business before the council will include the usual committee reports, and correspondence tabled from previous meetings. Acting Mayor Marchant will preside. Estimates discussions are expected to commence towards the close of the current month, with early action asked for in the fixing of the 1928 budget.

YOUTH ARRESTED ON SEDUCTION CHARGE

Four Months or Heavy Fine For Supplying Liquor to Minor as Well

A fine of $400, or in default four months in jail, was the sentence given Peter Hanlon of Swift Current, charged to-day in the City Police Court with supplying a minor with liquor. The accused pleaded guilty. He is held on a second count, one of seduction.

Reported missing, police instituted a search for a sixteen-year-old girl and after searching rooming houses and hotels discovered her with Hanlon in a downtown hostelry.

Detectives Phipps and William Stark traced the missing girl and reported her discovery to distraught parents.

Frederick Shale, who had previously been rooming with Hanlon, was not implicated in the charges against his friend, for when he arrived at their joint quarters on Saturday night he found it locked and went away.

Shale was found in the room the following morning, however, when detectives arrived there.

Veteran Here For Opening Ceremony Of B.C. Legislature

Capt. G. A. Huff, pioneer of Alberni district who walked into that city over forty-two years ago from Qualicum Beach with his blankets on his back after landing from the old side-wheeler Ss. Dunsmuir, arrived in Victoria to-day for the opening of B.C. Legislature in which he used to sit. "I sat for what was Cowichan-Alberni riding thirty-four years ago," he said, "so the old faces that I used to know are not in the legislature now. I was elected in 1894 to 1898 and was in the last session of the old house and the first one in the new." When the captain first reached Alberni from Ontario he engaged in the mercantile business and in steamboating. He has seen the city go ahead and is proud of its progress. "Alberni is doing fine," he said. "There is no boom, but steady, firm advancement that counts."

BEER BOBS UP AS ISSUE AGAIN AS LICENSEES ASK ASSISTANCE FOR BUSINESS

"That request appears reasonable to me," the Premier said when he was asked what he thought of the proposed cut in prices. "It seems just that dealers who are buying beer in large quantities all the year should receive a lower rate than a person buying a few bottles."

The present price of beer sold to licensees for re-sale to the public is 91¾ cents a gallon. In Government liquor stores bottled beer is sold at $2 a dozen pints.

The trade of beer parlors is seriously hampered at present by regulations forbidding them to display signs indicating the character of their business, the Government was told by Mr. Whalen and Mr. Wismer. In a formal memorandum submitted to the Cabinet the licensees complained that while residents know that the sign "open" means beer may be obtained within, tourists frequently are unaware that they may secure refreshment at all places where such signs are displayed. Often, the delegation said, tourists did not know that beer parlors were attached to their hotels. Beer parlors being recognized by law as legitimate business establishments should be allowed the same privileges as any other business, it was contended.

START CAMPAIGN

To-day's meeting with the executive and Mr. Davidson was the first gun in a campaign for new beer regulations, expected to form a leading theme of discussion in the House. For two sessions the Legislature has been free of the long, bitter beer debates which culminated in the beer referendum of 1924. Now beer has bobbed up again, and if the past is any guide for the future it will quickly make itself one of the focal issues of the session. The demand of the beer men for new concessions was entirely unexpected at the capital and will not be known generally among members until to-night's newspapers are read.

Meanwhile it is impossible to judge the reaction of the average member to this new injection of beer into the legislative programme. Unless anti-beer members have changed their minds entirely in the last two years, however, it is easy to foresee a great battle over some of the hotel men's proposals.

STOLEN MACHINE GOES OVER CLIFF

An automobile delivery wagon, owned by H. Lovick, 910 Gordon Street, was found wrecked at the base of the cliffs at Horseshoe Bay by F. G. Garland at 9.25 o'clock this morning, according to a police bulletin. The machine was reported stolen yesterday.

GUARD TO DRILL FOR PARLIAMENT OPENING TUESDAY

The Canadian Scottish Regiment will parade to-night for its final drill before a picked body of men taken from its ranks mounts guard at the Parliament Buildings to-morrow afternoon at the opening of the Legislature. All ranks will parade in scarlet doublet and full dress kit. At 7.30 o'clock those who have not drawn their issue of dress uniforms can obtain these out of stores.

PUBLIC MAN BEST AS COMPARED WITH PRIVATE CITIZEN

B. C. Nicholas Gives Interesting Address Before Gyro Club To-day

"There is a larger proportion of honesty and intelligence in public life than out of it," declared B. C. Nicholas in an address before the Gyro Club at its luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce to-day. Mr. Nicholas was dealing with various forms of government, the theme being inspired by the opening of both the British Columbia Legislature and the House of Commons this week.

"You will find," went on Mr. Nicholas, "that when a public man is crooked invariably he is not as bad as the community which sent him. Remember, the Legislature reflects the quality and character of the electors."

"One suggestion I would offer to the Gyro Club is that it continue its work along the lines of getting voters to use the franchise and to become more interested in public questions. I think some system of compulsion by the state should be used to make people use their vote. You will always get 100 per cent criticism, but only about thirty-five per cent representation at the polls."

WATCH SESSION

Mr. Nicholas told of the personnel of the B.C. Legislature and the Federal House.

"The nature of a session is never determined at the start," he remarked. "Unexpected developments may change its character as it goes along. The Legislature which opens to-morrow will be the first under Premier MacLean. Whether there will be another one before an election it is too soon to say. I ask the Gyros to follow the proceedings of this session with attention.

The session at Ottawa will witness the Conservative party under a new leader, Hon. R. B. Bennett, "an experienced Parliamentarian who is thoroughly familiar with affairs and has great oratorical ability."

The Senate came in for some comments from Mr. Nicholas, who stated that often the would-be reformer of it found himself eventually in that Chamber, when he became its stoutest champion. Mr. Nicholas thought that the Senate could be made a very important factor in government, that there should be less partizanship, that younger men should be included, and that appointments should not be for life.

DEMOCRACY BEST

"The Senate should not be a political house of refuge," commented Mr. Nicholas.

Mr. Nicholas drew comparison between democratic government and autocracies. While charges of extravagance and incompetency were hurled at democracy the speaker insisted that autocracy was far worse in these respects. Autocracy was discarded when people became educated and enlightened. Napoleon was an efficient autocrat during peace, but "as it was his military prowess which raised him, he had to keep on fighting."

"Millions of Frenchmen died to maintain Napoleon," declared Mr. Nicholas. "That surely was waste enough."

Mr. Nicholas was warmly thanked by A. W. Trevitt, new president of the Gyro Club.

Al Bergeron, of Portland, district governor of Gyro, and Bert McAdam, of New Westminster, Lieutenant-Governor of the district, spoke briefly.

MALASPINA CLOSES TREASURY STOCK

The second annual meeting of the Malaspina Mines Limited was held in the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, when the following were elected directors for the year: Herbert J. Pendray, of the British America Paint Company; A. W. Yourk, operator; R. W. Mayhew, of the Sidney Roofing & Paper Company; Walter Tuck, of the Woodbine Gold Mining Company; W. G. Dickinson, mine operator.

The chairman, Mr. Pendray, said it was very gratifying to announce that the sale of treasury stock was closed, as the company had enough money to carry out their programme, that the working force would be increased to two shifts, and that the company expected to begin producing ore within a very short time, and that on account of the very favorable location of the mine, practically on salt water, this could be marketed without delay.

The managing director, Mr. Dickinson, with the aid of blue prints and maps, reviewed the work done during 1927, showing where the ore bodies were located, and the plan of work to be undertaken at once, explaining that the tunnel was in ore of a very good grade, and that it was his intention to extract ore from now on, thus putting the mine on a producing basis in a very short time.

DOPE PEDLER'S TERM EXTENDED BY THREE YEARS

Appeal Court Grants Crown Plea For Seven-year Maximum Sentence

Wealthy Vancouver Chinese Merchant Loses Every Point in Freedom Fight

Lim Gim, wealthy Vancouver Chinese merchant, described in court proceedings as a wholesaler in the opium business, and the freatest operator in Vancouver, will serve seven years in prison instead of four years, as a result of a judgment handed down by the B.C. Court of Appeal to-day. The judgment was unanimous.

Two seven-year terms will run concurrently. Fines will be increased from $500 to $1,000 in each of the two cases. Lim will be called upon to pay costs in the Appeal Court and the court below.

PETITION OPPOSED

The increase to the maximum sentence follows Crown's appeal against the Assize Court sentence of two four year terms to run concurrently, on the grounds that they were inadequate in view of Lim's extensive dope operations and the judge should have given no effect to a petition for leniency.

Appeals on behalf of Lim against the sentences and attacking the constitutionality of the Opium and Narcotic Act had previously been dismissed.

In handing down the judgment of the court, Chief Justice Macdonald remarked that the evidence showed Lim carried on an extensive trade in narcotic drugs and by his own statement had considerable experience in the business. The judge in the court below had erred, the court ruled, in permitting the petition for leniency to influence him in passing sentence.

Owner Finds Ring Lost in Church For Twenty-five Years

Jack Morrison of 2042 Penzance Road, is to-day wearing a plain gold ring that was lost for a quarter of a century. Twenty-five years ago Mr. Morrison was working for Duncan McCrimmon renovating the old First Presbyterian Church at Pandora Avenue and Blanshard Streets. He dropped the ring down the plaster work of one of the columns and it would have been impossible to recover it without tearing down the plaster. When R. N. Wright of 117 Niagara Street started to demolish the church Mr. Morrison told him of the lost ring. Saturday Mr. Wright returned it to him. It was at the bottom of one of the columns and was in as good condition as on the day it was lost.

and fear. "When you fear a burglar, you can hear him in every corner of the house," he said.

England proper had given a majority for the revised book. The total majority against the book, including Shapurji Saklatvala, the only Communist member of the House of Commons, was thirty-three. In both houses of Parliament the majority of Anglicans wanted the new book, the speaker noted.

BISHOPS LAWBREAKERS

After reviewing some of the controversial points in the revised version, the Dean expressed the opinion that it was introducing nothing new. It sought to deal with what was already there. An "unauthorized revision" had already been effected.

"No one has been keeping the rubrics of the old book strictly. All the Bishops have been lawbreakers. The old book is out of date," he commented.

Whatever happened, disestablishment and disendowment were brought nearer, said the Dean. It was essential that due weight be given to the consequences of the rejection of the book and to the impressive majorities given by Anglican councils for the version. The matter had become a question of the balance of advantages.

THE ROMANIZING WING

"Some talk as if they would destroy the comprehensiveness of the Church and drive out the Anglo-Catholics," he went on. "That means disruption. If the relatively small Romanizing wing of the Anglo-Catholics refuse the book and elect to go to Rome, to Rome they must go, but the bulk of them have a right to remain."

No one in the many debates objected to the modernizing changes in the new Prayer Book. The whole controversy had raged around the Holy Communion service. The ablest theologians in the Church had said that the prayer of Consecration was nearer the ancient Liturgies, the Liturgy of the Eastern Orthodox Church, the Episcopal Churches of Scotland, America and South Africa, than that of Rome. It was no nearer transubstantiation than the old book now in use, according to the Dean.

The preacher noted that a case had been made out for the perpetual reservation of the Holy Communion for the sick. The new book definitely forbids public services in connection with the reserved Sacrament and safeguards the reservation for the sick.

"Why not trust the Bishops?" asked the Dean. "They could not, if they wished, maintain legality in the past. The Archbishop of Canterbury and the Archbishop of York have both publicly pledged the Bishops to act, and act together."

Answering the question, "Will the book bring peace?" the Dean observed that the new revised Prayer Book could be likened to the League of Nations in that peace was more likely to come with it than without it.

In concluding her sermon, the Dean made an impassioned appeal to the members of the Church to give serious thought to the whole question, for whatever happened to the new revised Prayer Book it would have a repercussion upon Anglican life in Canada.

OBITUARY

The death took place yesterday morning at 617 Douglas Street of Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Smith, widow of the late John Smith, formerly of 1809 Cook Street, aged seventy-two years. She was born in Kingston, Ontario, and had been a resident of this city for the past forty years. The late Mrs. Smith is survived by one son and two daughters, Harold, Jennie and Gertrude. The funeral will take place on Wednesday, January 25, at 2 o'clock from the Sands Funeral Chapel. The remains will be laid to rest in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

The death occurred this morning of James Rendall, aged eighty-seven years, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. P. Dempsey, 107 Bushby Street. The late Mr. Rendall was born in Oxfordshire, England. Services will be held to-morrow at 11 o'clock at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, Rev. Henry Knox officiating. Later the remains will be forwarded to Tisdale, Sask., for interment.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Bertha Ross, who passed away at the Jubilee Hospital on Thursday, were held Saturday at 2 o'clock, at the Sands Funeral Chapel. Relatives and a large gathering of friends were present and the many beautiful flowers betokened the respect in which the late Mrs. Ross was held by her many friends. Rev. Robert Connell officiated and the hymns sung were, "Rock of Ages" and "Lead, Kindly Light." The pallbearers were S. Smith, George Wilson, T. Hayes, and H. P. Thorpe of the Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion, and T. Moffatt and W. Laurie, personal friends. The remains were laid to rest in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

Spectacular Grandeur of Old Rome Portrayed In "Ben-Hur"

Magnificent $4,000,000 Screen Triumph Appears in Victoria for First Time at Dominion Theatre; Ramon Novarro and Carmel Myers Appear to Excellent Advantage in Feature Roles

"Ben-Hur," the $4,000,000 picture which is presented at the Dominion Theatre beginning to-day, portrays the glory of the ancient Romans with a magnitude and magnificence unequalled by any previous spectacle of stage or screen.

The Romans excelled in war, athletic prowess and speed contests on the chariot racecourse. In the first-named, "Ben-Hur" shows a sea battle off Misenum, in which more than a hundred Greek and Roman ships are engaged. The Romans defeat the Greeks, but not without the loss of the head trireme to the piratical Greeks, who ram and board the ship, kill the crew, then set fire to the disabled, sinking craft. This is the most terrifying action ever shown in a picture.

For racetrack thrills, nothing can compare with the great chariot race scene. In the Roman mode a chariot course was built with half-mile laps, and this was surrounded by a Circus Maximus with a seating capacity of 100,000 spectators, the whole guarded by great gladiatorial figures in the heroic style of sculpture and ornamented with Roman eagles, warriors and amazons by the artists Carmelo Barbara and Carlos Romenelli.

Twelve quadrigas or four-horse chariots enter the course. Midway there is a wreck, in which several of the teams, drivers and chariots are piled one upon another. It is Ben-Hur and Messala's race-duel toward the finish. Messala's wheel is torn off, he is smashed beneath his chariot and his team. The other goes on to win, amid the plaudits of the vast crowd.

"Two Girls Wanted" Screen Showing at Columbia Theatre

Janet Gaynor and Doris Lloyd Play Well in Picture Showing This Week

Doris Lloyd has deserted matronly roles temporarily to play the part of a maiden lady of uncertain years, and a stenographer in the bargain, in "Two Girls Wanted," Fox Films, now at the Columbia Theatre.

This is the first time since her entrance into pictures that Miss Lloyd has been called upon to play such a role.

"Two Girls Wanted" is based on the play by Gladys Unger, which scored so highly on Broadway last season. It was purchased by Fox Films at Director Alfred E. Green's request as a starring vehicle for Janet Gaynor.

Double Bill Is Shown on Variety Screen This Week

"The Fighting Hombre" and "The Missing Link" Are Film Attractions

Though appearing to use one mount through "The Fighting Hombre," Bob Custer, who is starred in the F. B. O. production playing at the Variety Theatre, uses two horses in reality. The extreme danger which accompanied Custer's portrayal in this picture made it necessary for him to secure two mounts to avoid the possibility of holding up production in case of injury to his favorite, also because the work was so strenuous that a single horse could not stand up under the constant grind.

Syd Chaplin, in an uproarious farce of African jungles as a fear-smitten youth who is forced to act the bold hero is also at the Variety Theatre this week. The film is "The Missing Link," directed for Warner Bros. by Charles F. Reisner. Syd Chaplin is said to outdo even his mirth-provoking characterization of "Old Bill" in "The Better 'Ole."

Star of Playhouse Picture This Week Is Strong Athlete

Edward Horton, Who Plays In "The Whole Town's Talking" Is Sporting Actor

Edward Everett Horton, who has the leading role in "The Whole Town's Talking," which is at the Playhouse Theatre this week, is a great follower of athletics and indulges in every sport himself.

The only game he has never acquired a liking for is golf.

Walking, handball, tennis, football, baseball, basketball, squash, running and skating are a few of his athletic hobbies.

Horton believes in physical culture and, unlike many people who believe that exercise is a good thing, Horton practices what he believes.

"Physical culture is the key to health," Horton said. "To keep the body in good condition one should perspire every day. Exercise sufficient to produce this condition is necessary to health."

MANHATTAN SNAPSHOTS

New York, Jan. 23.—It is on those mornings when the mercury hits close to the zero mark that New York displays those tragedies hidden when the elements are kindlier . . . hidden, or overlooked.

But when the thermometer has slid to "ten above," one need but glance at the morgue records or the front pages of the Manhattan newspapers. Here, one learns, that "Jube Taylor, a homeless negro, was found dead in a doorway." A janitor discovered the body. "Taylor had hung around the district for almost forty years and the doorway had been his special resting place."

Someone might try writing a tragedy on much lesser themes than this. For forty years a cold, friendless doorway became a symbol of shelter in a city that rushed by without noticing that it was anything but a doorway. And this, in the end, was his deathbed. Which, perhaps, is as it should be.

"The third victim," you read, "was found by Patrolman Sherbaum slumped on a bench in Roosevelt Park. The body was that of a short man, about sixty-five, weighing about 200 pounds. He was still unidentified last night."

And to-morrow, but for police records of derelicts, he will still be unidentified. Perhaps, out of the shabby reaches of the side streets, there will come another outcast who will give this unknown a name. Perhaps, from this name they will begin to trace a life story—and it will be such a life story as could be told of a dozen men who sit each night upon park benches without money in their pockets or hope in their hearts. And the crowds mill past and see them sitting there. The crowds mill past and do not know a man is dying before their eyes.

About two years ago there appeared in New York a man who gave himself the colorful name of "Mr. Zero." He explained this nom-de-charity on the ground that he appeared at the zero hour and in zero weather. He opened a little place he called "the tub." Here he served warm food and provided warm clothing. He tried to get church benches for the men to sleep upon—but didn't have a great deal of work. This year he has a warm place where the penniless can gather and be entertained by radio; where they can get hot coffee "Mr Zero" can tell you a lot about the tragedies of the dropping thermometer. He's met the men who are found dead on park benches and in doorways!

"7TH HEAVEN" GIVEN TOP RANK AMONG 1927'S BEST PICTURES

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 23.—Along about this time every year critics, writers and make-believe typewriter artists out Hollywood way make a stab at picking the ten best pictures for the preceding twelve months.

So your correspondent has fallen in line with the others and hereby submits his selection. There may be some who won't agree with this selection. It's certain there are plenty in moviana who won't—they're the ones whose films have been omitted. However, let the kicks come. Here's our list and we'll stand by it:

"Seventh Heaven."
"Wings."
"The Blood Ship."
"Resurrection."
"The Way of All Flesh."
"Sunrise."
"Underworld."
"The Gaucho."
"Chang."

It realy wasn't much of a job picking out ten pictures to rank above the others made during 1927—in fact there weren't many more than ten good films produced.

AT THE TOP OF THE HEAP

Topping the pictures, not only for this last year but for the last several years, is "Seventh Heaven." It is one of the most interesting human films ever brought to the silver sheet. Frank Borsage, the director, deserves no end of credit for the way the entire production was handled. So do Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell, who portrayed the leading roles.

"Wings" is the outstanding war film of 1927. And it is the pioneer of the fighting pictures. In the way of spectacles and cost, it ranks equal with any production made during the entire year. In addition, Director William Wellman got results—and that's what counts.

"The Blood Ship" started out to be just an ordinary programme film. It was made on a shoestring and no one in the movie colony even gave it a "tumble" until after its release. Now people are still talking about it.

"Resurrection," on the other hand, started out to be one of the big pictures of the year. Edwin Carewe had a good story in Tolstoy's novel and he produced the film on a large scale.

JANNINGS MAKES ONE

Emil Jannings came through with flying colors in his first American-made film, "The Way of All Flesh." He "made" the picture but nevertheless it gets its place among the upper ten.

"Sunrise" also is the work of a German master mind in America. It was directed by F. W. Murnau and is actually an excuse for the presence of foreign directors here.

There's nothing stupendous about "Underworld" but it is one of the most entertaining films of the year and as the real purpose of the motion picture industry is to entertain, it must be mentioned. Ben Hecht, author of the story, deserves the lion's share of the credit there.

Just the opposite of "Underworld" was "The King of Kings," a supposedly religious picture. Cecil B. DeMille missed a bit on his religious note, but despite that he turned out a spectacular and interesting film.

Perhaps it's because Doug Fairbanks made it and again "The Gaucho" might really be as good as we think—but anyway it gets its place here.

Then comes "Chang," the motion picture made without an actor— that is, a movie actor. This film was made in the wilds of East Indies with natives and beasts as the cast.

Emil Jannings, himself, is shown in the inset, and above in his characterization in "The Way of All Flesh"

PLANE PASSENGER KILLED

Barcelona, Spain, Jan. 23.—A French Latecoere passenger aeroplane operating between Casablanca, Morocco, and Toulouse, France, crashed and burned near the town of Tarragona yesterday, the only passenger aboard being killed. The pilot was seriously injured.

Are there going to be any regrets tomorrow about that good meal you're all set to stow away tonight. Better take Seigel's Syrup. Any drug store. (Adv.)

Comedy At Its Height In Hero For a Night At Capitol

Glenn Tryon Has Feature Role; Patsy Miller Is the Heroine; Novel Vaudeville Attractions Offered in Addition to Excellent Feature

For those who like comedy at its height, with considerable plot, to mention thrills thrown in, we recommend the Universal farce comedy, "A Hero For a Night," which opens at the Capitol Theatre today. It starts with a laugh and ends with the audience hysterical.

Glenn Tryon, the popular comedian, who has been forging to the front so rapidly of late, plays the role of a smart-aleck young wisecracker, who flies his home-made airplane to Russia to prove to his girl friend (Patsy Ruth Miller) how good he is.

Miss Miller is charming as the heroine and is an excellent foil for Glenn's innumerable smart cracks and farcical lovemaking. In fact, she hands out quite a few of both herself. We hope to see more of this comedy team together, and no doubt will, as we understand that Universal has them both signed for several more.

The picture was directed by William James Craft from an original screen story by Harry O. Hoyt. The supporting cast includes the lovable old gentleman, Burr McIntosh, and a host of other well-liked players, including Lloyd Whitlock, Bob Milash and Ruth Dwyer.

On the stage at the Capitol Theatre this week in addition to the regular picture bill, there are three very novel vaudeville attractions, comprising Jessie Miller, the premier cornetiste of the Pacific Coast, in a delightful musical offering, Flip and Flapper, a clever comedy dance team, introducing some decidedly new and novel dance steps, and the vocal interlude will feature the ever popular Belle McEwan, a soprano soloist who always is received well in Victoria. The overture by the Capitol Theatre Orchestra will be another big feature on this week's bill. The stage attractions will be offered twice daily.

Cumberland Council Names Committees

Cumberland, Jan. 23.—The Cumberland City Council held their first meeting of the 1928 session on Thursday evening, with Mayor-elect A. Maxwell presiding, and Aldermen-elect C. P. Parnham, J. Ledingham, D. Bannerman, J. Williams, Wm. Henderson Jr. and T. H. Mumford present. Mayor Maxwell congratulated the council on their return to office and extended a hearty welcome to the new representative at the council table, Alderman elected by acclamation to fill the place of ex-Alderman W. P. Symons, who has left the district. The aldermen present returned the mayor's wishes, and expressed their earnest intention to filling the positions to which they have been elected to the best of their ability.

Communications were received from the Canadian Collieries Limited expressing appreciation of the letter of thanks for their co-operation during 1927, which was addressed to them by the City Council, and pledging their support for the coming session, and from Dr. E. B. Hicks, medical health officer, giving the following report of the past year: "During the months of March, April, May and June, 1927, the city was visited by an epidemic of measles, thirty-two cases being reported, and during the same period there were seventeen cases of chicken pox reported, all the above cases making good recovery. In June one case of scarlet fever was reported, which was quarantined, and the contacts immunized, no further cases developing. During the month of June eleven cases of German measles were reported, and during August there was one case of whooping cough. With the opening of the schools in September German measles again made its appearance and since then has been epidemic in the city and outlying districts."

Reports for the year were also received from Fire Chief Parnham, in the course of which the following information was given: During the year fourteen alarms have been turned in, six inside the city and eight outside. The fire at Beaufort House in May and the disastrous fire which wiped out No. 5 Japtown being the worst. Both of these were outside the city limits. Special reference was made to the promptness with which the department turned out. In no instance has there been the slightest delay in getting to the fire, notwithstanding the fact that the department is entirely a volunteer one. Losses on buildings amount to $11,385, of which $805 was inside the city and $10,509 outside. Loss of contents amounted to $3,527, $50 inside and $3,477 outside the city. Insurance involved amounted to $19,900 on buildings and $8,700 on contents. Considerable new equipment has been acquired by the department, including 300 feet of 1½ inch hose, 400 feet 2 inch hose and two new soda canisters for the chemical truck. One new hydrant has been installed on Penrith Avenue and an old one repaired and installed on Third Street, opposite the Court House. Fire Chief Parnham thanked the council for their co-operation during the year, and especially for their action in insuring the members of the fire department. In conclusion he recommended the purchase of a fire siren and replace the present bell, which has become inadequate and unsafe.

Other communications included one from the secretary of the Cumberland General Hospital, requesting the use of the City Hall for the hospital annual meeting on January 28. This request was granted. Also one from P. R. Harrison, M.P.P., with the reference to the position of city solicitor, Mr. Harrison being retained in this capacity.

Bills and accounts to the amount of $395.18 were passed for payment, and Alderman Parnham reported for the finance committee as follows: General account, $4,896.72; school, $4,522.85; savings, $332.95.

The following committees were appointed: Finance, Alderman C. J. Parnham (chairman), Aldermen T. H. Mumford and J. Ledingham; board of works, Aldermen W. Henderson (chairman), J. Ledingham and J. Williams; board of health, Aldermen J. S. Williams (chairman), W. Henderson and D. Bannerman; water committee, Alderman D. Bannerman (chairman), C. J. Parnham and T. H. Mumford; light, Aldermen T. H. Mufford (chairman), J. Williams and W. Henderson; fire wardens, Aldermen J. Ledingham (chairman), C. J. Parnham and D. Bannerman. Appointments made included medical officer, Dr. E. R. Hicks; city clerk, W. H. Cope; electrical inspector, E. Hughes; city teamster, J. Baird. Alderman Bannerman was appointed to represent the council on the hospital board. The mayor and city clerk were authorized to sign all cheques and transact all banking business. A request from the Pioneers' Association for the use of the City Hall for a meeting on January 21 was granted.

Plans for the contemplated new home were placed on view, and the lodge congratulated Past Exalted Ruler Bro. Sutton on being elected District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for Vancouver Island.

Col. Villiers, general manager of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Limited, was a visitor to Cumberland during the week after three months spent in hospital.

Men who just fall short

because CONSTIPATION has kept their health below par

YOU meet them everywhere—men who just fail to reach their goal because they lack that last ounce of energy, that bounding health which is essential. Millions of them do not know they are below par. Millions of them do not know that constipation or a condition approaching constipation is the cause.

Yet doctors tell us that a high percentage of to-day's sickness is due to constipation. Insufficient roughage in the diet is one of the chief reasons for constipation.

Post's Bran Flakes is a roughage food in the most delicious, palatable form—and will relieve most of these cases.

Now You'll Like Bran

Make this two weeks' test and note the difference

Constipation must not be neglected. Start a two weeks' test now. Order a package of Post's Bran Flakes from your grocer. Start by eating a dish of Post's Bran Flakes for breakfast. Eat it as a cereal with milk or cream. You will be delighted with the crispness and the delicious flavor. You will find it as good as any cereal you ever tasted.

Do this every day for two weeks. We predict you will find a real difference in the way you feel and that you have been "regular" all the time.

But don't stop at the end of two weeks. Eat Post's Bran Flakes every morning for health and regularity.

Post's Bran Flakes is sold by all grocers in a wax-wrapped package. Ready to eat.

It is dangerous to experiment with patent medicines and drug laxatives. They bring only temporary relief and may make matters much worse. Ordinary cases of constipation brought about by too little roughage in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is abnormal, don't experiment. Consult a competent physician.

WIRELESS MESSAGE SUMMONS DOCTOR

Mission Ship Surgeon Saves Life of Sayward Boy

Sayward, Jan. 23.—Tommy Dyer was brought to his home here on Tuesday, from St. Michael's Hospital, Rock Bay, where he lay in a very critical condition for two months, after undergoing an operation for acute appendicitis, performed by Dr. S. B. Mills of the Mission Ship Columbia, who with his usual promptitude, took over the case on receiving notification by wireless. He found that the appendix had been burst some considerable time, consequently at first there was very little hope entertained of Tom's recovery. That he was gradually pulled through a condition which has proved fatal in most cases of its kind, speaks volumes for the surgical skill of Dr. Mills, the careful treatment of Dr. Stringer and the nursing staff of St. Michael's Hospital. Tommy will be convalescent for some time yet. He being homesick, his removal from the Hospital was made in the hope of accelerating his complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vose returned to Sayward on the last boat from Vancouver. The young couple were married on January 10 at Alberni, the home of Mrs. H. Vose, nee Miss Constance Blakemore, who was for five years teacher of the Upper Valley School. They are taking up their abode here, Harvey having a very promising location near that of his father, where he has almost completed a comfortable home for his bride.

On Saturday the Community Club held a well-attended social evening and dance as a reception to Miss M. I. Stuart of Victoria who recently took over the duties of teacher of the Sayward Upper Valley School. Commencing at 8 p.m., much enjoyment was crowded into the hours that followed, all too quickly for some of the young people; altogether they did their best to make Miss Stuart feel perfectly at home.

Miss K. Salmon is here on a visit from Vancouver and staying with her old friend, Mrs. Etta Settle, whose husband is touring Australia with the "So This Is Canada" company.

The Sayward Athletic Club entertained all and sundry at a social evening and Cinderella dance at the Community Hall an Thursday. Despite the short notice, it being one of their regular practice nights, a goodly number of dance enthusiastic put in an appearance and having a very pleasant time. Two songs "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" and "The Song That My Mother Used to Sing," sung by Miss Kathleen Salmon during the intercession were much appreciated.

Sayward experienced remarkably fine weather during every day of the past week; with night temperatures of 30 degrees F., and calm mild days, turning warmer at the week end, developing a Scotch mist and the mercury at 40 degrees F.

Keating

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. J. A. Patdress on "Dairy Cattle," outlining the son.

The Farmers' Institute of South Saanich held a large meeting in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening when the speaker for the evening was J. S. Hopkins of the Department of Agricultre, who gave an interesting address on "Dairy Cattle," outlining the best methods of feeding and breeding, and advocating a rotation of field crops for Summer feeding. W. D. Michell presided during the meeting and it was arranged to hold a pruning class on Friday, January 27. Fifteen men enrolled for the class and will meet at J. J. Young's, Central Saanich Road, at 9 o'clock on Friday morning. The class will be under the supervision of Mr. White, Department of Horticulture.

A new enterprise to be held by the Institute this year will be a ploughing contest and Messrs. Spencer and McCarthy were appointed to make arrangements for the contest to be held next month. Mr. Tice will speak in the Rotary Seed contest for boys and girls next month. Refreshments were served by the ladies.

terson, Mrs. Mundell and Mrs. Anderich Women's Institute held the January meeting and election of officers for 1928 in the rooms at the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening with a large attendance of members. One new member was welcomed. The president, Mrs. H. Lawrie, was in the chair, and many items of correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. Styan, including Christmas cards from old members and friends, a report from the Travelers' Aid, and a letter of thanks from Mr. and Mrs. W. Crossley, (nee Edna Butler, a former member), for the wedding present given them by the Institute.

A resolution protesting against the Hickman film was received and unanimously endorsed.

The treasurer, Mrs. F. Young, read the financial statement, a substantial balance being on hand to commence the new year.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of Mrs. Lawrie, as president; Mrs. Styan as secretary, and Mrs. F. Young as treasurer. Mrs. Nimmo was elected vice-president, and Mrs. Mosher, director. A meeting of officers will be held to appoint committees for the year.

A card party will be held on Saturday evening, January 21, in the Temperance Hall, when the directors will act as hostesses. A number of the members have wool prepared for comforters and the next wool bee will be held in the rooms on Thursday, January 26. Each member will be given a small sum of money again this year, to make prizes for the card tournaments.

All members are requested to return library books so that a new lot of books can be sent for.

It was suggested that the Institute hold a social evening for members and their families, and arrangements were left with the directors.

A report of the children's Christmas entertainment was given by Mrs. J. J. Young, a jolly time having been enjoyed by all.

KINSMAN LEADERS PLACED IN OFFICE

Visiting Duncan Members Entertain at Installation Ceremony

A strong contingent of Duncan Kinsman Club members, attended the installation ceremonies of the Victoria Kinsmen at the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening and with their orchestra contributed largely to the success of the programme. The Duncan club, a thriving young organization, was fostered in its initial steps to formation by the Victoria members. There is a close bond of unity between the two bodies in consequece.

Preceding the ceremony, a dinner was served to the members and their guests in the Grill Room.

Robert Harvey, captain of the visiting Kinsman hockey team, whose men went down to 6-2 defeat at the Arena at the hands of the Victoria clubman, issued a challenge to his hosts to meet the Duncan men on their own ice on Somenos Lake where he promised to give them a tate of real hockey.

The following officers were installed: President, Walter Miles; vice-president, E. B. Corby; secretary, Fraser Lister; assistant secretary, Duncan Fraser; treasurer, Archie Smith; directors, Arthur Poynts, Ernest Stock and Edward Savannah.

Gordon Campbell, retiring president, presented his annual report. Among other things, he stated that the club had reached the limit of its membership and he advised the extension of the number by the new executive.

Ainsley Helmcken, western governor of the organization, officiated at the ceremonies.

Perspiration Odour so unpardonable so easy to banish

What quality is so attractive as personal charm . . . . and what social fault so obnoxious as perspiration odour.

Every person perspires, of course. It's natural, it's healthful. Physicians say the perspiration of the average person measures between one and two pints daily. Nature takes this way of ridding the body of impurities through the millions of tiny pores of the skin.

But perspiration need not be objectionable. Lifebuoy Soap, used in the bath, banishes the odour. Lifebuoy's creamy, mild lather not only cleanses, but also purifies the pores—antiseptically—and keeps them sweet, open and breathing.

To Keep Well
Drink plenty of water, perspire freely and banish perspiration odour with Lifebuoy Soap.

Make sure of avoiding the needless social error of perspiration odour. Use Lifebuoy Soap, for hands, face and bath.

Low in price—wonderful in results.

LATE NEWS FROM TO-DAY'S MARKETS

New York, Jan. 22 (By B.C. Bond)—The market as a whole—The fact that the volume of trading has undergone a sharp contraction during the past few days is indication that voluntary liquidation has been completed. If the market is to work any lower in the process of correcting its technical position, forced liquidation will be necessary. The professional bear party may become organized and make such an attempt, the preliminary indications of which will be the establishment of new low prices as measured by the averages with an increased volume of trading. If such a development does occur it will probably be followed by further decline in the averages to around the lows established in October of 1927. Whether or not this will take place remains to be seen and we believe the wisest policy is to stand on the side lines and give the market a chance to demonstrate its ability to hold around current levels.

Rock Island—Continues to meet with excellent buying in recognition of its splendid earnings for 1927 and also in anticipation of an early increase in the dividend rate. We would buy the stock expecting it to score prices of better than 130 in the near future.

Marland Oil—When a stock representing a sound company is reduced in market volume by about fifty per cent no mistake can be made in buying it for the long pull. Marland has passed through such a stage and even though it may not go up immediately, we would buy it recognizing that no loss need be sustained and a large profit bound to accrue if patience is exercised.

Pacific Gas—Has offered stockholders the right to subscribe to new stock in the ratio of one new for each ten new held at a price of $25 per share. We advise those who followed previous suggestions to exercise the rights.

Manhattan Shirt—Will show a substantial increase in earnings for the 1927 fiscal year and the up-trend is expected to continue through 1928. Insiders are buying the stock, anticipating an increase in dividends.

H. P. Bliss says, From a trading standpoint the market appears to offer more encouragement to buying operations. It is still probable that if wild moves on the upside were indulged in by enthusiastic traders they would meet with quick correction and we would not anticipate in the near future a duplication of the markets of the first few days of the month. At the same time, several stocks appear of late to come through the unsettlement period with market positions unimpaired. Such issues for example as International Nickel, Underwood and Vanadium seem to be in strong hands and, as a matter of fact, the first two made new highs in yesterday's market. In only one of them, International Nickel, is volume large.

It will be remembered that for several months past Premier equipment stocks like American Car and Foundry and American Locomotive showed no recovery powers after periods of selling in the general market but yesterday both stocks, particularly American Car stocks showed substantial recovery powers. These two issues, we believe, are liquidated and we would class them among the more attractive speculative issues.

From the standpoint of income the following make an appeal—General American Tank, St. Joe Lead, Schulte and Famous Players and Chrysler indicates by its market action there has been a renewal of buying in the issue. We think there is better than a fair chance of a further trading recovery in the active stocks.

New York, Jan. 23 (By B.C. Bond)—California crude production averaged 618,250 barrels daily in the week ended January 21; decline, 2,250 daily.

Sears Roebuck in 1927 earned $5.95 a share against $5.21 in 1926.

Lehigh Power Sec. in year ended Dec. 31, earned $1.30 on com., vs. $1.13.

General Motors sales to dealers in December were 60,071 against 57,621 in November and 44,131 in 1926.

President Harrison of Southern Railway says an attempt to repudiate contract on which its rights Mobile and Ohio are vested involving a higher dividend rate on the latter will be resisted and that Southern Railway has no plan to consolidate the two companies.

Irving Fisher's stock price index for last week is 255.9 vs. 253 a week ago and 250.3 a month ago.

FINANCIAL NOTES

New York, Jan. 22—Radio Corporation declared regular quarterly dividend 1¾% on preferred, pays April 1 stock March 1.

Cuban Sugar Commission fixed total sugar to be ground this year at 4,000,000 tons.

Merger of Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel will probably be consummated shortly, expected new company will be created common stock to be exchanged one for one of Inland common and 1 4-5 for one YB common with preferred on share for share basis. New common is expected to pay 3 annually.

Montgomery Ward and Company during 1927 did the biggest business of its history, increasing by fifty per cent the net income over 1926. The annual report shows a net income of $15,119,245 last year compared with about $10,000,000 for 1926.

Constructive tendencies and some improvement in business conditions are outlined in the trade reviews of Dun's and Bradstreet's but the general trend was found to be divergent, manufacturing activity is found to be great in the auto industry with the steel trade the chief beneficiary.

Despite the fact that the volume of business activity in 1927 was nearly as large as in 1926 and larger than in any previous year, production and wholesale trade, the last few months were in smaller volume than at the close of any year since 1924, according to the Federal Reserve Bulletin.

The way is being cleared for constructive action looking toward the adoption of a conservation policy in the petroleum industry which will permit producers to avert too rapid depletition of reserves in fields like Seminole, when the committee of nine resumes its public hearing on Monday, an effort will be made to settle some points still under discussion by the committee which will shortly be the subject of a report to the president's oil conservation board.

Duration of current rally some contend depends largely on extent of short covering. The last motor show left many singing praise of the Hupp Motor which is being reflected in the stock market.

Nickel Plate Railway reports year ended Dec. 31 net income $6,839,477 after charges equal after preferred dividends to $15.41 a share on 303,477 common shares against $20.07 a share in 1926. December net income was $874,940 against $570,857 in 1926.

Forbes, president of Pierce Arrow Co., says, Sales of passenger cars in metropolitan area in January reached a new peak for that month the first two weeks gaining thirty-three per cent over 1927 period.

ALL NORTHWEST RECORDS BEATEN IN STOCK RISE

Vancouver, Jan. 23.—Over $1,588,293 covering 2,757,558 shares changed hands on the Vancouver Stock Exchange in the five days of the past week, marking it the most active in the history of the Northwest, according to figures compiled during the check-up Saturday.

Following the closing of the exchange Saturday to permit brokers and officials to catch up with the immense volume of business transacted, the exchange announced Sunday all records were up-to-date, and with extra clerks and two additional boards sessions will be resumed at 10.30 a.m. to-day.

Trade reached a crescendo Friday when almost 1,000,000 shares, worth nearly $500,000, changed hands.

Ski-jumping Record

Westby, Wis., Jan. 23—Lars Haugen, national amateur ski jumping champion, tied the world's record for a scaffold jump when he hurled himself through the air for 183 feet at the sixth annual tournament of the Snowflake Ski Club of Westby yesterday.

Haugen won the Class A division with 18.475 points, while Peter Falstad, Sioux Valley Club, Canton, S.D., had 18.415 to win second.

Gary, Ind., Jan. 23—Anders Haugen, of Chicago, forty-year-old veteran of the ski slides and a member of the America's Olympic ski team, yesterday outclassed a big field to win the opening ski tournament of the Ogden Dunes Club, near here.

Haugen not only leaped the farthest, but displayed the best form. His championship leap on the new slide was 92 feet. His total points were 18.503. Alf Bakken, of the Norge Club of Chicago, was second with jumps of 87 and 81 feet for 18.030 points.

Haugen left to-day for New York, en route for the coming Olympic games. The exceptionally short distances to-day were considered good considering the take-off slide was only half completed when the meet began.

Nova Scotia Bank Report Shows Trade Quickening

Excellent progress was made by the Bank of Nova Scotia during the past year, according to the annual statement published to-day.

There was a gain of $122,076.75 in net profits from $2,243,242.99 to $2,365,319.74. Deposits increased $13,116,328.60 to $203,498,570.68, the increase being principally in the savings or interest-bearing deposits. The total assets amount to $261,736,980.43, as compared with $246,721,584.37 in 1926. Current loans in Canada are $82,145,510.77, an increase of $6,201,301.28 and current loans outside Canada are $22,126,487.17, having increased $2,393,647.90.

These figures reflect the larger volume of trade participated in by the bank's customers. Call loans in Canada are $27,457,071.10 and outside of Canada $12,062,648.43, showing increases of $8,076,337.80 and $754,273.02 respectively.

As usual, the bank shows a strong liquid position, the Dominion notes, specie and foreign currencies being thirteen per cent. of liabilities to the public; quick assets are $143,339,726, equivalent to sixty-two per cent. of liabilities.

As mentioned previously, the profits for the year are $2,365,319.74, which, together with $658,887.38 brought forward from last year, were disposed of as follows: Dividends, $1,600,000; circulation tax, $100,000; written off bank premises, $250,000; contribution to the officers' pension fund, $95,000; $500,000 was transferred to reserve fund, leaving a balance of $479,207.12 to be carried forward to the next year. This transfer now puts the bank in the unique position of having a reserve fund double the paid-up capital, the former now amounting to $20,000,000, as compared with the capital of $10,000,000.

BUSINESS SHOWS UPWARD TREND

New York, Jan. 23.—The volume of trade during the week ended January 14 as indicated by figures on cheque payments, although larger than in the preceding week, was considerably higher than in the corresponding week of 1927, according to the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce.

A more reliable indication of business recovery is afforded by the increase in the percentage of operations in the steel industry and by the posting of higher prices for certain products.

Excluding Ford operations, it is noticeable that last week's production by the leading motor car makers showed a gain of more than twelve and one-half per cent over a year ago and almost sixty-five per cent over that of the preceding week.

Such data as is available tend to the belief that activity in the building industry will be well sustained for at least several months to come.

As far as business fundamentals are concerned it is inevitable to conclude they are sound and, in the absence of any evidence of relaxation in the conservative character of policies heretofore pursued, are likely to continue. Hence it is likewise apparent that the immediate future of the speculative situation is undeniably regarded with a measure of apprehension; confidence is still unshaken in the intrinsic values of the dividend-paying issues, which comprise seventy per cent of the listed stocks.

While it is conceivable that the exigencies of the credit situation in the event of expanding commercial demand could easily precipitate a sharp reduction in the average level, it is more than probable that such reaction would prove temporary and that good stocks will eventually sell at higher prices than any recorded.

Under existing conditions it should prove advisable to limit long holdings to such issues as one may be prepared to carry through a period of reaction.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

Winnipeg, Jan. 23—Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd.—Wheat—The wheat market was dull again to-day with only a small trade passing and offerings light. Prices held within a narrow range, fluctuating less than ¼c up to the noon hour, but were that much lower, later in the day, they eased off a little further. There was tendency on the part of some longs to take profits and some scattered liquidation was in evidence, the offerings being taken by other locals and some buying against the daily bids which had been sold very close on Saturday.

Chicago, Jan. 23—Wheat—March wheat acted tight during the morning and had quite a bulge. This lent strength to the general market, but near the close offerings increased and prices eased as local longs liquidated. The result was the market closed near the low of the day and slightly under Saturday's final levels. Wheat looks irregularly lower.

Corn—Best prices in corn were not held, although the market was not weak. Commission houses took the surplus out of the market around 91 for May and a fair advance was made, but prices eased off with wheat.

BULLS WIN OUT LEADERS GOING UP, WHITNEY STATES

New York, Jan. 23 (By Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd)—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau to-day says:

With the turn in steel late last week, giving us the initial impetus to the long awaited rally and with the other of the two form down influences, General Moters definitely showing in Saturday's session that the recent battle around the 130 level was won by the longs, a healthy complexion has been given the entire market, which assures us that the rally is not simply the fitful result of short covering, but that it has in it the true elements of permanency capable of carrying it beyond the two or three day period which would ordinarily constitute the limit of its possibilities were it simply based upon the running in of a short interest.

The market appears to be again under under the domination of the interests which absorbed with excellent volume while rally in this bull market. I expect that our favorites will simply come along one by one, as they have been doing in the last two or three sessions with whatever temporary recession or dullness that we may witness to quickly overcome.

Wall Street Journal's Review of To-day's Stock Market Over B.C. Bond Corporation's Direct Wall Street Leased Wire to The Victoria Times

New York, Jan. 23 (By B.C. Bond)—The New York American this morning says: "Highly optimistic utterances of insiders on General Motors. Canadian Allied Chemical and others does not sound as if a bear market was coming."

By B.C. Bond Corporation Direct Wire
New York, Jan. 23.—The evening edition of The Wall Street Journal says: News over the week-end was not important from a market standpoint, but apparently the change in trading psychology was. A glance at the tape at almost any stage of the day's market would have made it difficult to believe that less than a week ago cautionary advices were widespread and rumors of an impending market crash general. In the first hour the market was distinctly strong, carrying boldy forward the improvement which began to manifest itself on Friday last week.

To-day's Mining Market

BIG MISSOURI SOARS AGAIN; L. AND L. HITS 40

Vancouver, Jan. 23—L. and L. was one of the big features of the market here to-day with the stock running up to sell at a high of 40, which represents a gain of about fifteen points from Friday's close. Buying in L. and L. was in big blocks.

The market after its enforced holding Saturday opened here today with new boards, more clerks and enlarged facilities to handle the rush of business, which has been daily setting new records.

Big Missouri, which ran up to $1.75 Friday and then dropped to around 50 at the close, came back to-day, opening at 75 and running up to sell at 1.20.

Independence sold between 19½ and 26, closing at 21-22.

Woodbine was up to sell at 90. There have been enormous profits cleaned up in this stock since first of last week.

Georgia River closed stronger at 75-82.

Terminus moved up to-day opening at 27 and selling at a new high of 30.

Trading, which switches from stock to stock, continued very heavy.

The bull market here roared ahead to-day, with more stocks soaring to new highs. Trading is broadening out, carrying new issues along.

As the week opened, crowds of buyers jammed the brokerage offices endeavoring to pick out the ones that will stage the moves this week. Those who picked the right ones a week ago today for last week, doubled and trebled their money quickly.

Buyers were bidding all day Sunday in Vancouver for L. & L. and some of the wise ones here managed to get the tip over the long distance telephone in order to pick up some stock around 30 before the market opened and the stock staged its run up to close at 38 bid.

Silvercrest was another favorite of the insiders at the week-end. The stock closed at 17 bid Saturday. To-day the information that was out on it proved right, as it shot ahead on good buying to close.

There is a report that the company's property, which at 23-25, adjoins the Big Missouri, may also be taken by the Consolidated. If this happens a fast market is expected in this stock.

Those who picked up Big Missouri around 50 on its big break Friday, were selling to-day when the stock soared again on the Victoria exchange and closed at 1.00-1.50. Buyers who got in this stock Friday or Saturday, thus doubled their money over Sunday.

Malaspina attracted a lot of good buying and went to new highs to-day, as a result partly of the announcement that all treasury stock had been withdrawn from sale and other good reports on the development.

There was considerable buying of Terminus here around 25.

Placed On Sale This Morning Has Been Heavily Over-subscribed
Grandview, adjacent to the Pend Oreille Lead and Zinc Company's property, IS NOT A PROSPECT. It is a mine with 300,000 tons of ore ready for extraction. It has a fifty-ton pilot mill that has demonstrated satisfactory and profitable metal recoveries. Funds derived from present sale of treasury stock will be used for immediate construction of a mill of 250 tons daily capacity.
Grandview, in our opinion, will parallel the record of Golconda, which we placed on the market last June at 25c and is to-day worth $1.35. Both properties have proven ore bodies which make the stock well worth the market price.

Rangers Back In Tie For Lead In Hockey

Score Easy Victory Over Pittsburgh While Boston, Held to Tie by Chicago on Saturday, Suffer Defeat at Detroit by 3-2 in Overtime Game Last Night; Frank Foyston Makes Opening for Hay to Score Winning Goal for Detroit; Canadiens at Last Beaten, Ward, Former Fort William Amateur, Scoring Only Goal of Game

The mighty Canadiens on Saturday at Montreal suffered the second defeat of their present campaign in the National Hockey League, falling to the Montreal Maroons one to nothing. The Maroons needed the victory to keep in a tie with the Toronto Maple Leafs for second place, because the Leafs here defeated Ottawa 2 to 1.

The New York Rangers went into a tie for the leadership of the American section when their four-to-one victory over Pittsburgh coincided with Boston's defeat at Detroit 3 to 2.

Boston went to Chicago Saturday and were disagreeably surprised with the aggressiveness shown by the last place Hawks, being held to a 1-1 draw. On top of that they lost to Detroit Sunday in overtime, 3-2, after a ding-dong battle before 10,000 fans. In the overtime period Hay scored the winning goal on a pass from Foyston, who scored a goal early in the game.

New York, Jan. 23.—The New York Rangers defeated Pittsburgh Pirates by 4-1 in a N.H.L. game here last night and went into a tie with Boston Bruins for first place in the American group.

Ching Johnson and Bunny Cook tallied in the first period and Frank Boucher and Paul Thompson added two more goals in the middle frame. Tex White saved the Pirates from a shutout, when he scored near the close of the contest.

Captain Bill Cook of the Rangers and Harold Cotton of the visitors traded punches in the final period. A major penalty was imposed on each.

Montreal, Jan. 23.—The seeming impossible but the inevitable has happened. Canadiens were beaten by one-nothing score by the Montreal Maroons at the Forum on Saturday night, and thus was brought to an end one of the most impressive records ever compiled by a team in the National Hockey League. It was the first defeat sustained by the Flying Frenchmen in nineteen straight games.

The break had to come, however, and it fell to the lot of the Canuck's intra-city rivals to rise to hockey heights and completely overshadow the Flying Frenchmen in as thrilling a professional hockey battle as has ever been seen on Montreal ice.

A lone goal in the second period by Ward, sub Maroon right winger, was all that was needed to accomplish the downfall of the wonder team.

The game was a typical Maroon Canadien battle. It was marked by a lot of cautious hockey and was featured by the superb defensive play of the winners.

The contest was not without roughness, two major and fifteen minor penalties being meted out by the officials who called the slightest infractions.

Toronto, Jan. 23—In the most bitterly contested National Hockey League fixture to be played at Arena Gardens this season, Toronto Maple Leafs triumphed over the world champion Ottawa Senators by a score of 2-1 Saturday night, and thereby strengthened their hold on third position in the Canadian group.

The second largest crowd of the year turned out to witness the breaking of the deadlock which had existed between these two teams since the opening of the schedule.

In the previous three games the teams battled to ties with only two goals being scored.

The visitors were without the services of that clever mid-ice general, Frank Nighbor, and his play was missed by his team mates.

Winnipeg, Jan. 23.—Minneapolis Millers strengthened their hold on second place in the American Hockey Association by a 1-0 victory over the Winnipeg Maroons here Saturday night.

The game was slow, featured only by a last ten-minute rush by the Maroons, which proved unsuccessful. Hill scored the lone tally in the first period.

Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 23.—Port Arthur gave Fort William Inter-provincial Hockey League team their first defeat of the season here Saturday night, winning a fast game by the score of 3-2.

The Cougars defeated Boston last night in an overtime game. Foyston scored one goal and made the opening for George Hay to score the goal which broke up the game.

BAYS COME TO LIFE AND WIN RUGBY MATCH

Champs For Eight Years, Defeat United Services, Runners-up in First Half

Scottish Beat Pirates; University, Victoria College and Normals Win

The Sixteenth Canadian Scottish and the J.B.A.A. won their respective matches against the Pirates and United Services on Saturday afternoon and showed that in their present form they will probably be the big contenders in the final sprint for the senior city rugby championship of 1928. Both teams won decisive victories. The Scottish won by 26-9 and the Bays were winners by 6-0.

Although the Pirates outplayed them in the scrum, the three-quarter work of the Scottish was more than sufficiently strong to drive the opposition in behind its own goal posts again and again. But in the opening minutes of the match, with two of their men late for the whistle, the Scottish were pushed down field by punting and forward rushes, which finally ended in a try when McCallum leapt though.

Another brief period of play resulted in Farrar tearing through for the Scottish, and Forbes converted to gain leading points.

Later Horne scored on a pass from Pollard, after outwitting the opposing wing. Forbes kicked another goal to boost the lead.

After a series of forward rushes the Pirates got within easy striking distance of the militia line, and after two or three unsuccessful attempts to crash through, dribbled over finally with Dan Parfitt snuggling the ball into the sod at the feet of the pack.

A little later, with the opening of the second half, Forbes took a pass from Turgoose, cut in and scored for the Scottish and converted his own try.

On a lone rush by Horne, after the ball had been relayed along the line to him, gave the Scottish still another try which Forbes converted to reach a total of twenty. Farrar scored two more tries before the finish, but neither was converted.

Pendray scored for the Pirates before the whistle.

BAYS HAVE EDGE

Although they failed to score until the game was nearly ended, the J.B.A.A. held the upper hand against the United Services, and earned their victory. With an unusually hard-working scrum and a fast back field, the Bays had a team which carried every earmark of a championship crew.

In the first half the Bays threatened more than once, and kept the play in their opponents' territory a great part of the time. But they could not break the stubborn line of defence against them.

Too much kicking by the Bays' insides, threw away some golden opportunities for the oarsmen. But they made up for the ill-directed efforts by their consistent ardor. Every man was keen in the attack.

Watson scored from a line-out in the Services' ten-yard area, but the try was left unconverted.

Two minutes before the whistle Moses went steaming through for the last counter. The kick failed.

Moses played through the latter part of the game with a slight concussion from a kick behind the ear. He was confined to his bed Sunday, but was better to-day.

Referee, Jones.

UNIVERSITY WINS

In the intermediate rugby game at the Willows previous to the senior game, the University School swamped the Oak Bay Wanderers. The score was 36-0. From the starting whistle the school seemed to have things in their own hands. They managed to pile up a count of fourteen points in the first half, although the Oak Bay boys seemed to have their share of the game.

Singleton opened the counting with a try thirty seconds after the whistle, Gardiner, Skillings and LeMarquard each made tries, which brought the total to fourteen when Heap converted LeMarquand's try.

The second half like the first saw a scoring slaughter. Le Marquand, Begg, Gardner and Walter, twice were the scorers. Heap converted two tries.

BRILLIANT VICTORY

In the game between Brentwood College and Victoria College rugby fifteens, played at the Victoria High School grounds, the Victoria boys downed their opponents to a score of 10-0.

During the first part of the game play hovered about centre field. The first and only score made in this half was gained by Hume when he secured the ball and after a specatcular run, crashed over the line within a few minutes of the half time whistle, giving Victoria leading three points.

Brentwood made many gallant attempts to score in the next half, but in every case their efforts were frustrated. Time after time they were down hammering on the College line but were unable to break through.

Once more the Victoria team took the play into their hands and carried the ball up to Brentwood's score line, where Don Macmurchie battled his way through for a try. Shortly after this play, McIlmoyl dropped a pretty goal and with the closing whistle the score stood 10-0.

The 16th Canadian Scottish intermediate rugby team suffered defeat at the hands of the Normal School Saturday afternoon at Mount Tolmie. The Scottish were handicapped by the loss of one of their men, but despite this defect they played a strong game. The Normal boys managed to gain two tries in the first half, and successfully maintained this lead throughout the entire game. The score was 6-0.

Waltes and Chapman were each responsible for a try for the students. Each score came from a short run on their opponents' line. The Normal boys had a decided edge on their opponents in the first half, but the militia team made a strong pick-up in the latter period.

Normal School—Adam, Knott, Horne, Cousins, Lucas, Hearne, Hammond, Chapman, Thompson, Waites, Iverson, Davie, Morley, Lendrum and Clarke.

Scottish—Baker, Spense, Tye, Gann, Beek, Young, Ford, Healy, Sturrock, Hobson, Knight, Davies, Kinsman and Graham.

Mandell Willing to Defend Lightweight Title Very Shortly

Chicago, Jan. 23—A promise to sign for a lightweight championship match as soon as the opponent is selected, was made yesterday by Eddie Kane, manager of Sammy Mandell, to Promoter Jim Mullen.

"Mullen has been working on a list of contenders for some time," Kane said, "and I gave him my word we would sign with him as soon as he has reached terms with a worth while match. As far as I know, no date has been set, as neither boxer is signed up yet. Mullen may have in mind putting on the bout on February 26, if everything can be arranged by that time.

"Mandell has been doing a lot of training in the ring recently and can be ready on short notice. All we ask is that Mullen select someone who can make it a good fight."

KILLER INSTINCT IN BOXER FALLACY SAYS GENE TUNNEY

Miami, Fla., Jan. 23—Tex Rickard believes Gene Tunney would "fight every week if opponents could be secured to oppose him," the New York promoter of things largely pugilistic, said at a dinner honoring the heavyweight champion here Saturday night.

And Tunney defended himself against the charge of some sports writers that he lacks the "killer" instinct.

"The idea of the killer instinct being the predominant trait in the best boxers is a fallacy," he said. "If this were true the leading gunman would be a heavyweight champion of the world."

Rickard diverted somewhat from his "general observations" about boxing to dwell on the heavyweight champion's desire to engage two opponents during the present season. Rickard grinned his Texas smile as he spoke of weekly engagements for Tunney.

Fine Scoring Feats In English Soccer

Cookson, of West Bromwich, and Waterton, of Newport, Each Score Four Goals, While Three Players Perform "Hat Trick"; Everton Robbed of Victory by Brilliant Goal-keeping of Taylor, Who Was Injured and Had to Retire; Good Crowds View Excellent Games Played During Bad Weather

London, Jan. 23.—Soccer matches Saturday in England and Wales were played for the most part in rainy, gusty weather, with the pitches very soft. Considering conditions the brand of football played was remarkably good.

There were several fine scoring feats. Cookson, of West Bromwich Albion, and Waterton, of Newport County, each secured four goals, while Robson, Preston North End, Turner, Torquay, and Beall, Burnley, did the hat trick.

In the English League, first division, Everton were robbed of victory over Birmingham by the brilliant goal minding of Taylor. In the midst of his fine display he was injured and had to retire. The Birmingham team were two up at the interval through the goals of Ellis and Briggs. With Taylor gone Everton were able to equalize through Irvine's two counters.

HUDDERSFIELD DELIVER

Huddersfield Town led Tottenham Hotspurs by two goals to one at the interval. O'Callaghan scored for the Spurs and then Browne equalized. Both counters were made in the first five minutes of play. Smith scored for Huddersfield just before the half-time. The Spurs had to play the second half without Thompson, who was hurt. Jackson and Smith scored against them. Osborne got the Spurs' second goal just before time.

Leicester City had a field day at the expense of Derby County. The City's goals came from Chandler, twice, Lockhead and Adcock.

Sunderland at Liverpool played with fine assurance to carry off the victory, Hopkin and Reid scored for Liverpool, while Halliday, twice, Hargreaves, Riley, through his own goal, and Marshall ccompiled Sunderland's total. Marshall and Wilke played a particularly brilliant game for Sunderland.

SCORES CAME TOGETHER

All the goals in the Bolton Wanderers-Bury match were made in three minutes after half an hour of play in the first half. Smith and Jack registered for Bolton, while Hawarth kicked the ball through his own goal to give Bury a point.

The Wednesday ran away from Blackburn Rovers in the first half. Hill scored twice and Hooper once before the interval. Hooper found the range again and Holland saved the Rovers from being blanked.

Newcastle United and Manchester United scored all the goals in their match before half-time in a dashing game. For Newcastle Wilkinson, deputizing at centre forward for Gallacher, suspended by the Football Association for bad behaviour in matches, scored two clever goals, and Seymour and McKay contributed the rest of the quartette of tallies. Partridge got Manchester's lone tally.

There was plenty of action in the Burnley-Sheffield United game. In addition to Beel's three goals, Bruton got a couple for Burnley, while three were registered for Sheffield United.

In the second division matches scorers were:

Manchester City—Austin, Broadhurst and Johnson.

Chelsea—Wilson and Thompson.

Fulham—Elliott.

Stoke—Bussey, twice.

Swansea—Thompson twice, Lewis.

Blackpool—Neal, Hampson, twice, Browell.

Liverpool vs. Sunderland, at Liverpool, 30,000.

Manchester City vs. South Shields, at Manchester, 30,000.

Chelsea vs. Fulham, at Chelsea, 40,000.

THISTLES MUST MEET WESTS IN ANOTHER GAME

Half-hour's Overtime Fails to Settle Province Cup Preliminary Match

Each Side Scores One Goal in Slow Game Witnessed By Large Crowd

Rival soccer forces led by Doc Poyntz and John Ewing will have to meet once again in order to settle their differences in the preliminary round of the Province Cup series. On Saturday afternoon Poyntz's greenshirts from Victoria West, and the blue-clad warriors from Saanich battled for ninety minutes at the Royal Athletic Park and failed to do better than a goal apiece. The thirty minutes of overtime failed to find either side capable of scoring a goal and breaking up the tie.

At a meeting of the Lower Island Football Association this week a date will be set when the teams will meet in the play-off. The winner of the match will accompany Esquimalt, last year's winners, into the play-offs proper of the Province Cup series.

POOR EXHIBITION

A large crowd of fans gathered to watch what was conceded in all quarters in advance to have the earmarks of a first-class game. The fans, however, were treated to a lengthy exhibition, but nothing much else could be said in its favor. The game was contested without a great deal of excitement.

The Wests gained the lead early in the second half when Johnny Peden, a very dangerous shot from a free kick anywhere in close proximity to the goal, tallied. The Wests were awarded a free kick for "hands" just outside the penalty area and Peden lived up to his reputation by fooling the whole Thistle team, including their goalie, Hetherington.

Both sides missed some good chances when in front of the goal, either shooting wildly or keeping the ball within reach of the goalies. The second half produced little in the way of excitement until near the close when Johnny Burns got an opening, due to a error of judgment on the part of the Wests' backs, and rushed in to beat Leeming for the tying goal. There was considerable hard play before the whistle but both goals escaped.

WIND HURT PLAY

In the overtime the teams, facing an extra half hour, did not exert themselves too much and the wind interferred somewhat with the play. The team with the wind in its favor usually led on the attack.

The Wests had a slight edge on the play throughout but it was hardly worth writing home about.

MacMillan refereed. The teams were:

Victoria West—Leeming, Dunn, Allan, Passmore, Peden, Popham, Sherratt, Brown, Plump, Robinson and Mulcahy.

Saanich Thistles—Hetherington, Kennedy, Harper, Miller, Joe Crowe, Jim Crowe, Cummins, Essler, Burns, Saville and Ewing.

Results of the matches played on Saturday in the juvenile football league were as follows:

DIVISION I.

Five C's, 6; Victoria West, 0. Goals were scored by Gibson 2, Briggs 2, Graves and McConnell. McKay refereed.

James Bay, 3; Royal Oak, 1. Smith, Gibson and Margison scored for the Bays and Pye for Royal Oak. Woodley refereed.

Esquimalt, 6; Burnside A.C., 1. McLean 2, Wright, Evans, Brien and Anderson scored for Esquimalt and Davis for Burnside. Bridgen refereed.

DIVISION II.

Five C's, 3; Maple Leafs, 3. Proven refereed.

DIVISION III.

Victoria City, 4; Esquimalt, 0. Woodley refereed.

MONARCHS LOSE OUT BY SINGLE GOAL IN GAME AT PORTLAND

Portland, Ore., Jan. 23.—The amateur ice hockey team of the Watefront Athletic Club defeated the Vancouver Monarchs in a fast game here last night, 3 goals to 2.

The Canadians got off in front when Baun scored after fifteen minutes and thirty seconds of play. Baun added to this nine minutes after the opening of the second period on a pass from Foster.

The Portland skaters, leaders in the Oregon Amateur Hockey League, failed to sag the net, until the third period, when Dewart tallied on a pass from McDonald. Towell then tied the score with an unassisted shot and Singer followed up with the winning goal.

The game was clean, only three two-minute penalties being called.

Japan Enters Team In Davis Cup Match

POURING OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS NOT NEW TO HIM; USES MOLASSES

Philadelphia, Jan. 23.—Pouring molasses over a raging sea to calm the mountainous waves is a new experience in the life of Capt. Bush, master of the Ss. Dora, but the captain asserted last night the experiment had been successful.

He told of his battle to keep the vessel from sinking in a storm off the northern coast of Cuba on his arrival here.

The Dora took on her cargo at Havana and Antilla and ran into the storm two days out from the latter port. Four hours the captain said he and his crew fought what they feared would be a losing battle.

All movable objects were washed from the decks and the huge waves threatened to crush the sides of the vessel. After more than 70,000 gallons of molasses had been emptied from the holds, Bush said the waters began to subside and the vessel remained in the stilled area until the storm passed.

The Jefferson will dock about 7 o'clock in the morning.

Outbound, the President Taft will arrived about 4 o'clock from Seattle to take on passengers and mail. She will clear for sea two hours later, taking a capacity cargo and a fair list.

NAVY LEAGUE FIELD SECRETARY IN CITY

Capt. G. F. Morris Here to Confer With Local Officials

Capt. G. P. Morris of Toronto, senior chaplain of the Navy League of Canada, is in Victoria to confer regarding the work of the local branch in his capacity as Dominion field secretary.

Capt. Morris reports a great change of heart among the French-Canadian population of the East in regard to the naval defence of Canada. The spirit of efficiency in militia regiments, which was always a conspicuous feature of the French-speaking province of the Dominion, has had a reflex action on naval affairs in relation to maritime defence, showing itself in a highly efficient sea cadet corps in Montreal, ranking with that at Winnipeg as the best in Canada.

The work of the Navy League is more favorably regarded now than it was three or four years ago, Capt. Morris asserted, commenting upon the fine editorial support given the league by the larger newspapers.

New Motorship On Trip to Coast

San Francisco, Jan. 23.—The General Steamship Corporation yesterday received word that the new motorship Mirrabooka had left Gothenburg for this coast via the Panama Canal on her maiden voyage, which is to be a trip around the world. The vessel was designed for the wool trade between Australia and Europe, but was ordered on the Pacific run for the off season.

Capt. I. Sealby, commander of the steamer Coptic on the San Francisco-Hongkong run in the late '90s, arrived here Saturday for a visit. He retired years ago and lived on the Atlantic Coast.

U.S. FIRMS CONTROL MOVEMENT OF GRAIN

Canadian Law Not Rigidly Enforced, Says New Federation Head

Toronto, Jan. 23.—The statement that in five years United States shipping interests have gained control over sixty-five per cent of the lake carriage of Canadian grain and are breaking the Canadian Coastwise Act to put Canadian steamship companies out of business, was made by Capt. C. E. Robinson, of Goderich, Ont., who this week was elected grand president of the Canadian Navigators' Federation.

"The American shipping interests," he said, "have practically taken over grain carriage on the Great Lakes. Over sixty-five per cent of Canadian grain is now carried in American bottoms. In a few years the Canadian steamship companies will be completely extinct unless the Government enforces the Act."

The act, he pointed out, forbids a ship of any other country than Canada to operate between two ports in Canada.

Car Ferry With Fifty-two People Aboard Is Aground

Grand Haven, Mich., Jan. 23.—Three boats were striving to free the Grand Trunk car ferry Madison from a sand bar near here where it went aground Saturday.

Twenty-six freight cars and fifty-two persons are aboard the ferry, but in case of necessity the crew and passengers can made their way ashore, 100 yards distant, over the ice, it is said.

Bad Weather Stops S-4 Salvage Work

Boston, Jan. 23.—Rough seas and cold weather yesterday held at a standstill salvage operations on the sunken submarine S-4 off Provincetown, Rear-Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the first naval district, was informed by radio from the rescue ship Falcon.

U.S. Veterans Score "Big Bill's" Course

Clinton, Mass., Jan. 23.—A letter to Mayor William Hale Thompson of Chicago, in which it was stated that his association with any patriotic programme "detracts from and does not add to its effectiveness," has been framed here by the delegates to the conference of the Massachusetts branch of the American Legion.

The letter is in reply to one received by the state branch from Mayor Thompson, in which the latter asked the support of the Massachusetts Legion in his programme to "Americanize American history." The delegates represented seventy-nine Legion posts in the state. The letter says in part:

"You ask our support—you, who in 1918, by your actions, would have in political glee seen the supporters and defenders of our national integrity 'sold out into slavery,' you, a defender of American institutions, you, a patriot, you, who had a great chance in the world's greatest crisis and who failed."

Chicago, Jan. 23—Dawn o' Pax, five-year-old silver Chinchilla of the Central Crest Cattery, Indianapolis, owned by Mrs. O. A. Brundage and E. J. Brundage, henceforth will lap his cream from a $100 loving cup appropriately inscribed by the Beresford Cat Club of America.

Dawn o' Pax was pronounced champion of champions to-night at the annual cat show of the Beresford Club.

The loving cup awarded by the club was the gift of Mrs. Aga G. Armbruster, Jacksonville, Fla.

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY-SIX OPERATIONS—Henry B. Smythe, who at forty-six has undergone 136 major operations, still manages to keep cheerful. He has spent 200 hours on operating tables. Despite his tragic ills he has become a successful and prominent St. Louis broker.

SS. NEBRASKAN IS NOT IN DISTRESS

Ship Was Hove to on Account of Heavy Seas But Is in No Trouble

New York, Jan. 23.—The freighter Nebraskan, reported Saturday in distress off Nantucket, yesterday sent word by radio that she had been "hove to" because of heavy seas, and was proceeding on her course.

Coastguard cutters, which Saturday night were dispatched to the aid of the Nebraskan, turned back, learning that the vessel was not in trouble.

A message from the Nebraskan to the Ontario, intercepted by the steamer Dillwyn and relayed to the coastguard bases here, said:

"No distress here. Have been hove to all day account heavy seas."

The message requested that Capt. Bennett of the American-Hawaiian Line, owners of the Nebraskan, be notified.

The coastguard schooner Acushnet last night reported that she was towing the schooner Jean to New York, after taking off the crew. The bows of the Jean were reported stove in and she was badly waterlogged. The cause of the damage was not known at the coastguard base.

The Jean of 359 tons, with a crew of five men, was from Georgetown, S.C., to New York, with a load of lumber. She was taken in tow between Barnegat Light and Sandy Hook.

GIRL NAVIGATES COASTAL SHIP ON DANGEROUS RUN

Four hundred and fifty passengers on the Chinese coastwise steamer Souchan trusted their lives to a girl who stood on the bridge of the vessel and guided it into Macao Harbor on the run from Canton recently.

The girl was Kathleen Pare, one of the personnel of the R.M.S. Empress of Russia, which docked here yesterday. The story of her voyage and the greater adventure experienced, possibly unknowingly, by the passengers, was related by one of the ship's crew.

The run to Macao, a Portuguese colony at the mouth of the Canton River, is often infested by pirates, Chinese by nationality and murderous by general intent.

Miss Pare, standing by the telegraph and wheel, took the big coastal steamer through the danger zone and alongside the Macao wharf without taking a splinter from the fragile structure, while the captain beamed approval from another section of the bridge.

FLIERS SNOWBOUND AT TRADING POST

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—Forced down by darkness at a lonely trading post, with the temperature hovering around thirty degrees below zero, isolated by snowstorms and powerless to take wing again for more than a week, Squadron Leader T. A. Lawrence, of Ottawa, in charge of the Royal Canadian Air Force detachment assigned to survey duty in Hudson Strait, was the hero of a thrilling advanture in the frozen North.

Several days ago rumors reached the capital that the leader of the Government's survey and patrol fliers had been lost. Later officials of the Department of Marine and Fisheries, who are in touch with the Hudson Strait posts by radio, reported Major Lawrence safe.

The squadron leader's report reached headquarters by radio from his Winter headquarters at Wakeham Bay, Ungava.

After being forced down January 10, the aviator reported, he was weather-bound until January 16, when a companion flier, Carr Harris, sent to search for him, arrived. High winds which accompanied the extreme cold made heating of the plane's motor impossible, and subsequently Squadron Leader Lawrence was stranded back of the Hudson Bay sub-post at Little Sugluk.

With the coming of milder weather on January 17 the airmen dug their machines out of the snow and took off, finally reaching Wakeham Bay despite poor visibility.

Ss. Montroyal Has Stormy Crossing

St. John, N.B., Jan. 23.—Presenting a spectacle of unique beauty, bedecked with ice from the master's bridge to the waterline, the Canadian Pacific liner Montroyal docked at West St. John yesterday morning after experiencing one of the worst transatlantic crossings in recent years. The vessel encountered continuous storms, accompanied with heavy gales and exceptionally rough seas all the way from the Isle of Wight. The ship sustained considerable damage, particularly to the large music room.

The Montroyal carried 414 passengers, including the Righ Rev. Bishop Lea and Mrs. Lea of South Japan, who have been enjoying a year furlough in England.

Japan needs and desires the sympathy of the western nations as she alone can combat the Boleshevik situation existing in the East, said Bishop Lea, who is en route to the Orient, traveling across Canada and leaving via Vancouver.

Three Injured Fatally in Tank Car Explosion

Texarcana, Ark., Jan. 23.—Three men were fatally burned and several others were seriously injured yesterday in the explosion of a tank car, filled with gasoline at Ogden, Ark., ten miles north of here.

Scott Sharp, railroad employee, died a few minutes after the blast, of burns suffered when the gasoline was set off by an acetylene torch with which a train wrecking crew was endeavoring to clear away the wreckage of ten tank cars which had been derailed Friday on the tracks of the Kansas City Southern Railway. T. A. Sellera, thirty-five, Texarkana, and Amos Snow, negro, Cedar Grove, La., died several hours later in a hospital here. Both were employees of the railroad.

The recovery of Ross O. Norwood, foreman of the crew, was declared doubtful by physicians.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

To-morrow's Horoscope

TUESDAY, JANUARY 24, 1928

Good and evil stars conflict to-day, according to astrology, which finds the rule propitious for many lines of philanthropic work.

Reforms in penal institutions and in places where the young are supposed to be "corrected" are presaged by the stars.

A leader who preaches practical prevention of poverty is to gain attention in the year, which will be marked by many efforts to encourage a higher civilization.

This is read as a lucky wedding day since it encourages blindness to faults and continued trust.

Women are especially well directed under this sway and even shopping expeditions are supposed to be subject to helpful planetary influences.

Theatres and places of amusement should benefit from this rule, which increases the desire for recreation.

One of the trends of the year will be toward reflection and serious endeavor that will be apparent in the young as well as the old.

College boys and girls are to be inspired by high ambitions that promise much for the elimination of foolish pastimes.

This is a sway supposed to encourage flirtation and a desire to attract admiration, girls are warned.

Coal, shipping and steel interests are all subject to planetary conditions that are most promising of profit.

In cities of the United States fuel shortage may become a serious problem as the Winter advances, the seers warn.

All the influences of 1928 appear to be toward progress and development that will enable Canada to succeed in world-surprising projects.

Persons whose birthdate it is have a year in which they will have great latitude of action and may attain real success. The young will court and marry.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of the sea and all the beauties of nature. Subjects of this sign are usually fond of travel and exceedingly charming in personality.

The cracker cop seemed very kind. Said he, "I'm sure that you will find that riding horses slower is as good as riding fast. You will admit there is no need for you to try and show much speed. 'Twill only tire the horses out, and then they will not last."

"I guess you're right," wee Scouty cried. "There might be danger if we ride at breakneck speed, so we'll slow down, and do just as you say." And then he shouted loud, "Giddap!" The cop flopped down to take a nap. This made the Tinies wonder just how long he planned to stay.

Just then the slim man came in sight and said, "This policeman is all right. He will not spoil your fun at all, as long as you don't race. But, if you treat the horses rough, and make them tear until they puff, he'll very likely scold you, with a frown upon his face.

"Be careful now. I'm leaving you, 'cause I've some errands I must do." And off across the hilltop went the slim man, on the run. And then he shouted, with a smile, "I'll came back to you after a while. Take care of all the horses now, and have a lot of fun."

The Tinies pranced around a spell, and then the bunch heard Clowny yell, "Oh, look! My horse is clever. He can stand on just two feet." And, sure enough, the horse rose high, with forefeet pointed toward the sky. The Tinies laughed to see it, 'cause the sight was quite a treat.

Just then wee Coppy shouted, "Run!" And 'twas no sooner said than done. A scary thing had happened and the cracker horses tore. A tiger followed close behind, and, goodness, he looked far from kind! He'd jumped out of

by S. S. VAN DINE © CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS

Markham had lunched with Major Benson the day the crime was discovered, and though the latter had shown a willingness to co-operate—even to the detriment of his brother's character—his suggestions were of little value. He explained to Markham that, though he knew most of his brother's associates, he could not name anyone who would have any reason for committing such a crime, or anyone who, in his opinion, would be able to help in leading the police to the guilty person.

He admitted frankly, however, that there was a side to his brother's life with which he was unacquainted, and regretted that he was unable to suggest any specific way of ascertaining the hidden facts. But he intimated that his brother's relations with women were of a somewhat unconventional nature; and he ventured the opinion that there was a bare possibility of a motive being found in that direction.

Pursuant of the new indefinite and unsatisfactory suggestions of Major Benson, Markham had immediately put to work two good men from the detective division assigned to the district attorney's office, with instructions to confine their investigations to Benson's women acquaintances so as not to appear in any way to be encroaching upon the activities of the central office men.

Also, as a result of Vance's apparent interest in the housekeeper at the time of the interrogation, he had sent a man to look into the woman's antecedents and relationships.

CHAPTER IX

Mrs. Platz, it was learned, had been born in a small Pennsylvania town, of German parents both of whom were dead; and had been a widow for over sixteen years.

Before coming to Benson, she had been with one family for over twelve years, and had left the position only because her mistress had given up housekeeping and moved into a hotel. Her former employer, when questioned, said she thought there had been a daughter, but had never seen the child, and knew nothing of it. In these facts there was nothing to take hold of, and Markham had merely filed the report as a matter of form.

Heath had instigated a city-wide search for the gray cadillac, although he had little faith in its direct connection with the crime; and in this the newspapers helped considerably by the extensive advertising given the car.

One curious fact developed that fired the police with the hope that the Cadillac might indeed hold some clue to the mystery. A streetcleaner, having read or heard about the fishing-tackle in the machine, reported the finding of two jointed fishing-rods, in good condition, at te side of one of the drives in Central Park near Columbus Circle.

The question was: were these rods part of the equipment Patrolman McLaughlin had seen in the Cadillac? The owner of the car might conceivably have thrown them away in his flight; but, on the other hand, they might have been lost by someone else while driving through the park.

No further information was forthcoming, and on the morning of the day following the discovery of the crime the case, so far as any definite progress toward a solution was concerned, had taken no perceptible forward step.

That morning Vance had sent Currie out to buy him every available newspaper; and he spent over an hour perusing the various accounts of the crime. It was unusual for him to glance at a newspaper, even casually, and I could not refrain from expressing my amazement at his sudden interest in a subject so entirely outside his normal routine.

"No, Van, old dear," he explained languidly, "I am not becoming sentimental or even human, as that world is erroneously used to-day. I can say with Terence, 'Homo sum, humani nihil a me alienum puto' because I regard most things that are called human as decidedly alien to myself. But, y' know, this flurry in crime has proved rather int'restin', or, as the magazine writers say, intriguing—beastly world! . . . Van, you really should read this precious interview with Sergeant Heath. He takes an entire column to say 'I know nothin'. A priceless lad! I'm becoming pos'tively fond of him."

"It may be," I suggested, "that Heath is keeping his true knowledge from the papers, as a bit of tactical diplomacy."

"No," Vance returned, with a sad wag of his head; "no man has so little vanity that he would delib'rately reveal himself to the world as a creature with no perceptible powers of human reasoning—as he does in all these morning journals—for the mere sake of bringing one murderer to justice. That would be martyrdom gone mad."

"Markham, at any rate, may know or suspect something that hasn't been revealed," I said.

Vance pondered a moment.

"That's not impossible," he admitted. "He has kept himself modestly in the background in all this journalistic palaver. Suppose we look into the matter more thoroughly—eh, what?"

Going to the telephone he called the district attorney's office, and I heard him make an appointment with Markham for lunch at the Stuyvesant Club.

"What about that Nadelmann statuette at Stieglitz's," I asked, remembering the reason for my presence at Vance's that morning.

"I ain't in the mood for Greek simplifications to-day," he answered, turning again to his newspapers.

To say that I was surprised at his attitude is to express it mildly. In all my association with him I had never known him to forego his enthusiasm for art in favor of any other divertisement; and heretofore anything pertaining to the law and its operations had failed to interest him.

I realized, therefore, that something of an unusual nature was at work in his brain, and I refrained from further comment.

Markham was a little late for the appointment at the club, and Vance and I were already at our favorite corner table when he arrived.

"Well, may good Lycurgus," Vance greeted him, "aside from the fact that several new and significant clues had been unearthed and that the public may expect important developments in the very near future, and all that sort of tosh, how are things really going?"

Markham smiled.

"I see you have been reading the newspapers. What do you think of the accounts?"

"Typical, no doubt," replied Vance. "They carefully and painstakingly omit nothing but the essentials."

"Indeed?" Markham's tone was jocular. "And what, may I ask, do you regard as the essentials of the case?"

"In my foolish amateur way," said Vance, "I looked upon dear Alvin's toupee as a rather conspicuous essential, don't y' know."

"Benson, at any rate, regarded it in that light, I imagine . . . Anything else?"

"Well, there was the collar and the tie on the chiffonier."

"And," added Markham chaffingly, "don't overlook the false teeth in the tumbler."

"You're pos'tively coruscatin'!" Vance exclaimed. "Yes, they, too, were an essential of the situation. And I'll warrant the incomp'rable Heath didn't even notice them. But the other Aristotles present were equally sketchy in their observations."

"You were'nt particularly impressed by the investigation yesterday, I take it," said Markham.

"On the contrary," Vance assured him. "I was impressed to the point of stupefaction. The whole proceedings constituted a masterpiece of absurdity. Everything relevant was sublimely ignored. There was at least a dozen points of departure, all leading in the same direction, but not one of them apparently was even noticed by any of the officiating pourparleurs. Everybody was too busy at such silly occupations as looking for cigarette-ends and inspecting the ironwork at the windows.—Those grilles, by the way, were rather attractive—Florentine design."

Markham was both amused and ruffled.

"One's pretty safe with the police, Vance," he said. "They get there eventually."

"I simply adore your trusting nature," murmured Vance. "But confide in me: what do you know regarding Benson's murderer?"

Markham hesitated.

"This is, of course, in confidence," he said at length; "but this morning, right after you 'phoned, one of the men I had put to work on the amatory end of Benson's life, reported that he had found the woman who left her hand-bag and gloves at the house that night—the initials on the handerchief gave him the clue. And he dug up some interesting facts about her. As I suspected, she was Benson's dinner companion that evening. She's an actress—musical comedy, I believe. Muriel St. Clair by name."

"Most unfortunate," breathed Vance. "I was hoping, y' know, your myrmidons wouldn't discover the lady. I haven't the pleasure of her acquaintance, or I'd send her a note of commiseration . . . Now, I presume, you'll play the judge d'instruction and chivvy her most horribly, what?"

"I shall certainly question her, if that's what you mean."

$91,000 SUIT DISMISSED

Portland, Ore., Jan. 23—A jury in Federal Court here on Saturday returned a verdict in favor of the Southern Pacific Railroad, thus dismissing the $91,000 damage suit brought against the railroad by Albert Sternberg of Albany. The verdict was returned after ten minutes' deliberation, this being close to a Federal Court record for a case involving so large a sum. Mr. Sternburg charged his tannery at Albany was destroyed by fire in July, 1926, after sparks from a Southern Pacific locomotive had ignited the roof.

BURNS CAUSE DEATH

Tacoma, Jan. 23.—Although her husband had made a brave attempt at rescue, Mrs. Frederick Schwin, sixty-five, of Tacoma, died in a hospital here Saturday afternoon from burns received when her clothing caught fire as she was cooking breakfast.

A sudden blast of flame from the cook stove was reported as the cause of the tragic accident. Hearing his wife's call for aid, Mr. Schwin, who is seventy-eight years of age, ran to her assistance. He was severely burned in his futile effort to save her life.

POLICE SEEK MAN

Hamilton, Jan. 23—A reward of $1,000 has been offered by the Canadian Bankers' Association for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Lucias Parmélee, who is said to be the man who visited local bank branches on December 23 last and succeeded in cashing two worthless cheques for a total amount of $6,800.

ROBBERY IN TORONTO

Toronto, Jan. 23.—Four armed bandits, using a motor car, pounced upon William McKelvey in a subway on Bathurst Street here and robbed him of a Victoria Medal, his gold watch, his army discharge papers and fifty cents. McKelvey stated all four of the men pointed revolvers at him.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word of common usage, for each jump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily and the Cold Pumpkin

Copyright, 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"How dark it is getting all of a sudden!" whispered Uncle Wiggily to himself one afternoon as he was hopping across a field. He looked back over his shoulder at the woods through which he had just run. And he had run fast, too, had the rabbit gentleman. For in the woods, after dark, often the Fox or the Bob Cat roamed around looking for good things to eat.

"And those bad chaps think rabbits are extra good to eat," said Uncle Wiggily to himself as he kept on hopping across the field.

Mr. Longears had gone to the store for Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. He had bought the muskrat lady housekeeper a pound of sugar and some tallow candles.

"Why do you need candles when we have electric lighting bugs in our house to chase away the darkness?" Uncle Wiggily said when the muskrat lady housekeeper asked him to bring the candles.

"Oh, you never can tell," answered Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "The electric lightning bugs might fly away and then we would be in the dark. It is well to have a few candles in the bunaglow."

So Uncle Wiggily had them in his pocket, and some matches, too, as he hopped through the woods and over the fields. He had looked for an adventure after buying the sugar and candles, and that is what made him so late.

"I had forgotten that it gets dark early now," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "But I think everything will be all right. The Fox and the Bob Cat seem to be far away. They will not chase me and I shall soon be safely home."

But just as Uncle Wiggily said this to himself he heard, at the edge of the field, down in a fence corner, a voice speaking.

"Oh, how cold I am!" said the voice. "Oh, how I shiver in this snow!" There was a little snow on the ground near the fence. "Oh, if I could only get warm!" sighed the voice.

"I wonder who that is?" whispered Uncle Wiggily, crouching down to hide behind a stump. "It can't be the Fox, the Wolf or the Bob Cat. They aren't cold with their warm fur coats. I wonder who it is?"

Again the voice called:

"Oh, how cold and shivery I am!"

"Well, if you aren't one of the bad chaps, and if you'll tell me who you are, perhaps I can make you warm, or at least take you to my warm bungalow," said Uncle Wiggily. "Who are you?"

"I am cold pumpkin," was the answer. "When the farmer gathered the other pumpkins which grew with me in the field, he forgot, and left me behind. I have been here ever since, all alone, and cold—Oh, so cold!" and the pumpkin's voice shivered.

"Poor thing," said Uncle Wiggily, striking a match to look for the cold pumpkin. He found the big, yellow vegetable down in the fence corner, with its vine all dried up. "You are too big for me to carry," Mr. Longears said to the yellow pumpkin, "but I can roll you along the ground and soon we shall be at my bungalow. Once there, you will be warm, I am sure, for Nurse Jane will have a crackling hot fire burning, to warm the forty leven little bunny boys and girls."

"Oh, how wonderful it will be to feel warm again!" sighed the cold pumpkin. "Thank you, Uncle Wiggily. Roll me along as fast and as soon as you please. I shall be frozen solid if I stay here much longer. Roll me along!"

So the rabbit gentleman blew out the match and made sure he had the pound of sugar in his pocket and the tallow candles in the other pocket. After that Uncle Wiggily began rolling the cold pumpkin along the ground toward the hollow stump bungalow.

"I feel better already," said the pumpkin. "I was so cold there, and lonesome. I wish you had come along earlier, Uncle Wiggily."

"I have been looking for adventures," said the rabbit gentleman. "I did not find any until I heard you calling. Now I am having a nice adventure, I think," and he gave the pumpkin another shove to roll it along the ground.

Just then, all of a sudden, there was a noise in the bushes beside the path, and a voice growled:

"Speaking of adventures, you are going to have another one right away, Uncle Wiggily! And it isn't going to be a jolly one, either!"

"Who is that?" whispered the cold pumpkin.

"It—it sounds like the Bob Cat!" sighed Uncle Wiggily. "Yes, it is the Bob Cat," he added as he saw the short-tailed creature. "And he is after my ears, I am afraid."

"Don't be afraid," whispered the cold pumpkin. "I will save you!" And how the cold pumpkin saved the rabbit I shall tell you in the next story, which will be about Uncle Wiggily's laughing lantern. But if the radio talks in its sleep and wakes up the canary bird, we shall have to wait until the rag doll sings it to sleep again.

There Are a Great Many Dont's In a Radio Announcer's Life

Cleveland, Jan. 23 — The exacting demands on radio announcers, to avoid hurting the feelings of a single radio fan or conveying a wrong impression, are no better brought out than in a code of ethics drawn up by H. K. Carpenter, manager of radio station WTAM here, for his staff of announcers.

The code reads like a new dictionary of etiquette in radio and adds several more rules outside of that realm. A perusal of it shows to what pains radio station directors go to put over the best of programmes in the finest way.

Here are some of Carpenter's rules for his announcers:

"1—Don't announce as if you are giving a stump speech. Your voice is within a few feet of the listener in his own home. Just tell them about it in a natural, conversational tone.

FAN IS THE CRITIC

"2 — Don't compliment artists or their work. If they are good the radio audience knows it. If they are not good, you can't expect the radio audience to believe they are, simply because you tell them they are.

"3—Don't try to be funny. One of the hardest things is to put a joke on the air and get away with it.

"4—Remember that repetition becomes terribly monotonous. The average radio listener hears certain phrases over and over again, if not from one particular station at least from all in general.

"With this in mind, eliminate from our announcing vocabulary the following words and phrases: Next, will follow, has just, you have just heard, this is, will now, to follow, now, that was.

KNOWS PSYCHOLOGY

"5—And under no circumstances use the word 'offer.' This word implies the possibility of acceptance or rejection, and a negative thought with reference to the quality of the programme should not be placed in the minds of the listeners."

There are other rules of "mechanics," as Carpenter calls them, referring to the method of presentation of programmes. One, asking announcers to wear tuxedos in the evening so they may "do better work," has lately been revoked.

Generally, however, the rules tend to produce clear, concise and brief announcements, a smooth running programme throughout the evening and an altogether pleasant entertainment.

Shell Symphonists And Orchestra on Air This Evening

Rudy Seiger's Shell Symphonists will be heard over the National Broadcasting Company's Pacific Coast Network in another exceptional programme tonight in the hour beginning at 8 o'clock. This weekly presentation is sponsored by the Shell Oil Company of California.

The opening selection is the "Intermezzo" from Mascagni's opera "Cavalleria Rusticana," which is followed by selections from Leoncavallo's opera "Pagliacci." Other outstanding numbers on the programme are "Southern Rose," a waltz from "The Queen's Lace Handkerchief," and "Amapola," written by James M. Lascalle and first popularized by Tito Schippa.

The feature of the hour will be two violin solos played by Rudy Seiger in answer to a request from Charles Dickman, the famous Western landscape painter, many of whose paintings adorn the walls of Rudy Seiger's apartment. The pieces, "The Old Refrain" and "Liebesfreud" are both by Fritz Kreisler and were immortalized by him.

A request telephoned from Tacoma, Wash., brings listeners Ketelbey's "In a Persian Market," a description of a royal procession through the marketplace of an Oriental city. Bringing the broadcast to a conclusion, the orchestra offers selections from Schubert's song melodies, including "Erl-King," "Ave Marie," "Serenade" and "Hark! Hark! The Lark!"

STUDIO PROGRAMME

The Los Caballeros Orchestra, which was heard in the National Broadcasting Company's inaugural programme over the Pacific Coast Network on April 5, 1927, will present a programme originating in the National Broadcasting Company's Los Angeles studios tonight in the hour from 10 to 11 o'clock.

This programme of Spanish music by the Los Caballeros Orchestra also features James Burroughs, tenor, and Felipe Delgado, baritone. Until a few weeks ago this attraction from the National Broadcasting Company's southern California studios was broadcast every Thursday evening between the hours of 9 and 10 o'clock. The advent of several sponsored programmes caused this to be discontinued. It now temporarily replaces the "Spotlight Hour," the regular presentation offered at this time.

WBBM IN NEW STUDIO

WBBM, Chicago, is now located in its new studio. From north Chicago, the station has moved right into the Loop, in the Kimball Building. The late Charles Erbstein once held sway in this building.

CHINESE DESERT WAR-TORN LANDS FOR MANCHURIA

Immigration Flow to Latter Province Greatest in History of China

Missionary From Mukden Tells of Contented Conditions Despite War

"Manchuria has benefited considerably in the way of immigration from the Civil War in China."

"The greatest tide of immigration in the history of China flowed into Manchuria last year."

"A bumper crop has enabled the people of Manchuria to bear up under a huge capital levy."

"Except for disruption of railway travel to a certain extent and a few anti-Japanese parades, Manchuria has been only slightly affected by war conditions in other parts of China."

The above were a few statements made concerning the effect of the Chinese civil strife upon the Manchurian province, by Mrs. W. McNaughton, wife of the Rev. W. McNaughton, both of whom were passengers aboard the R.M.S. Empress of Russia, which arrived yesterday from the Orient.

GOING TO SCOTLAND

Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton have been doing missionary work in Mukden, the capital of Manchuria for several years, and are now en route to Edinburgh on furlough. Mrs. McNaughton was met at the boat yesterday by Patrick Philip, Deputy Minister of Public Works for British Columbia, who is her brother. Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton will be in the city for a few days before proceeding eastward to New York, where they will embark for the Old Country.

The most noticeable feature in Manchuria during the last year, said Mrs. McNaughton, has been the huge flow of immigrants from the provinces of Shantung and Chilihi into the province. Shantung and Chilihi were completely devastated by the continual fighting and bombardment and the homeless peasants, carrying whatever belongings they could gather together have moved to different parts of Manchuria to take up their abode. This movement has been all the more striking as it has continued throughout the Winter—a condition very exceptional owing to the rigorous weather which usually stops immigration during the Winter months.

SOLDIERS PAID

"Manchuria on its own ground, has been quite peaceful through the civil war. The fighting was carried into other provinces and the residents of the Manchurian realm were not disturbed. The Manchurian soldiers are well fed, well clothed and are paid properly, there being thus no cause for riots and pillaging mobs.

Another striking feature of the situation was the record land crop in Manchuria last year, Mrs. McNaughton continued. It came at a time when the peasantry and poorer classes were in most need of it and they are now bearing up well under a heavy burden. Three years ago, the local dollar was at par with the Japanese yen, Mrs. McNaughton explained. Since then the rate has steadily dropped, and at present the exchange is about eighteen local dollars for the yen. The resultant capital levy has been huge, but with the bumper crop which was general throughout the province last year, there has been little real suffering.

TO RETURN

Mr. McNaughton will probably return to Manchuria at the end of the year. Mrs. McNaughton has not made definite plans for her return.
